Cabinet Meets In Ottawa To Make Decision On Its Course

CANADA'S POLITICAL INTEREST CENTRES IN CABINET MEETING IN FEDERAL CAPITAL TO-DAY

All Ministers Except Three From West Gather at Premier King's Call to Discuss Procedure to be Followed as Result of General Election; Series of Meetings This Week.

Ottawa, November 2, (Canadian Press)—The centre of political interest in Canada to-day shifted to the first meeting of the Cabinet since the general election. Cabinet ministers arrived in the capital this morning and Ottawa is once more taking on the atmosphere of session days.

At 2.30 this afternoon almost a complete cabinet will meet in the Privy Council chamber. Only the Western ministers, Hon. Charles Stewart, Hon. W. R. Motherwell and Hon. J. H. King, will be absent.

The immediate policy of the Government will doubtless be the only subpect before the Cabinet. Whether the administration should surrender office or endeavor to carry on and summon Parliament will undoubtedly bring out differences of opinion in the Cabinet. It is reported some ministers are in favor of resignation, and will recommend that move to the Government. On the other hand, there will without doubt be ministers advocating the summoning of Parliament. The ultimate decision rests with Premier King.

In the event of the Government's deciding to proceed with the administration and to meet the Opposition on the floor of the House there will arise the early need for a series of by-elections for cabinet ministers and for the Premier himself.

Meetings of the Cabinet will be held throughout this week, and any definite results will hardly be known for a few days.

EARLY SESSION IS DECLARED BEST PLAN

J. S. Ewart, Constitutional Authority, Says King Government Should Continue

Special to The Times

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—J. S. Ewart, K.C., formerly one of the leading lawyers of Canada and latterly a keen student of the Canadian constitution upon which he has written a number of books and upon which he is recognized perhaps as the leading authority in the Dominion, has issued a statement dealing with the present situation in Canada, in which he expresses the view that Premier King should carry on until the verdict of Parliament can be obtained.

Mr. Ewarts points out that the present situation is one which has arisen through the development of the group system and for which there is no "all-fours" parallel in British constitutional history. The nearest precedent was the situation which arose in the United Kingdom after the election of December 6, 1923, when Stanley Baldwin was without a majority but continued in office until defeated in the Commons and then turned over the reins of office to Ramsay MacDonald.

EARLY SESSION

Mr. Ewart goes on to point out that Premier King has a much better chance of meeting Parliament successfully than has Mr. Meighen. Therefore, because the primary object in view must be to keep in office the most powerful government possible—that is, powerful in the sense of Parliamentary strength—it is the duty of Mr. King to remain at the head of the Government.

Mr. Ewart qualifies his opinion by stating Mr. King should summon Parliament at the earliest possible date, should refrain from committing the Government to new policies, and should refrain from making appointments to office.

Alexandria, Egypt, Nov. 2—A traveler from Syria asserts Damascus is in danger of famine, as all supplies of wheat have been cut off. TURKS REPORTED MOVING BODIES OF TROOPS TO FRONTIER OF MOSUL

London, Nov. 2—A dispatch to The London Daily Mail from Beirut, Syria, says large bodies of Turkish troops are moving toward Mosul from Turkey.

The London Daily Express has a similar report. It puts the number of Turks at 5,000 and alleges the French have given them permission to cross Syria. The report says Britain has protested to the French Government.

In connection with the reported movement of Turks toward the Mosul frontier, it was reported in September that 70,000 Turks already had been massed on the Irak front of Mesopotamia in an effort to force a favorable settlement of the dispute over Mosul between Turkey and Great Britain.

THUG AND DETECTIVE KILLED IN MONTREAL

Result of Fight With Revolvers; Robber Killed Was "Dutch" Anderson

Muskegon, Mich., Nov. 2.—A bandit slain here Saturday night, after he had shot and fatally wounded Charles Hammond, a city detective, was positively identified to-day as "Dutch" Anderson, noted thug and pal of Gerald Chapman, superbandit.

The identification was made to-day by means of fingerprints of the slain bandit and those of Anderson. Secret service operators, who arrived here this morning, also aided in the identification.

"There is no question he was Anderson," said Peter Hansen, chief of police. "The fingerprints tell the story, while the Bertillion measurements also show him to have been Anderson."

ROSS WATSON TRIAL STARTS IN NANAIMO

Second Hearing of Evidence on Charge of Participation in Bank Robbery

William Bagley to Face Jury After Conclusion of Watson Trial

Vancouver, Nov. 2—Ross C. Watson, former Seattle detective charged with participation in the $42,000 Nanaimo bank robbery of last December 12, left here in custody on this morning's boat for the Vancouver Island city, where it is expected his case will be placed before an assize court jury this afternoon.

When Watson was first tried on this charge at the Nanaimo assizes last Spring the jury failed to agree as to his guilt and since then, as a result of his failure to secure $5,000 bail, he has been held at the Oakalla prison farm.

After the Watson case is disposed of William Bagley will face a similar charge.

It is believed T. H. Johnson and Harry Stone, convicted and sentenced to eight years' imprisonment and twenty lashes for their share in the holdup, will testify in Bagley's defence.

SIR J. LOUGHEED DIED IN OTTAWA

Pneumonia Caused Death; Conservative Leader in Senate

Ottawa, Nov. 2—The death occurred here this morning of Hon. Sir James A. Lougheed, Conservative leader in the Senate, who had been ill in an Ottawa hospital for several days with pneumonia in his left lung. Sir James held portfolios in the governments headed by Sir Robert Borden and Right Hon. Arthur Meighen. He had been a member of the Senate since 1889.

Suffering a serious breakdown last Winter, which confined him to his room for several months, Sir James made such a good recovery that he was able to take his place toward the end of the session as Leader of the Opposition in the Senate.

ILL TEN DAYS

About ten days ago he developed bronchitis, and later pneumonia set in. Since Saturday last, slight hopes were held out for his recovery, and the end came shortly before 10 o'clock this morning.

During his illness Sir James was attended by Dr. Lafleur of Montreal.

REGRET VOICED

Word of the death of the Senator was received with universal regret in political circles. During his long political career Sir James won for himself numerous friends among all political parties. He had been leader of the Conservative Party in the Senate since the retirement of Sir Mackenzie Bowell during his session of 1906-07.

Sir James, who first practiced law in Toronto and subsequently in Calgary, was made a K.C. by the Federal Government, and summoned to the Senate in 1889.

Lady Lougheed, a daughter and four sons survive him. Lady Lougheed, with her son, Clarence, arrived in Ottawa yesterday. Mrs. Hussey

MESSAGE IN BOTTLE REPORTS SHIP LOSS

Ss. Alphard of Holland Went Down in St. Lawrence Gulf in Gale October 25

Vessel Was Bound From Montreal to Rotterdam; All Aboard Perished

Quebec, Nov. 2.—"Lost in storm. Written by one of the shipwrecked crew of the steamship Alphard, Holland. Please be kind enough to forward this to safekeeping. Happened October 25, 1925. Written by Y. E. Teolsan. Adieu."

The above message, countersigned by "Captain Banderweevoen," was found in a bottle in the St. Lawrence River, near the lighthouse on St. Felicite Island, Matane County.

The message was written in Dutch and following its translation this afternoon, by Abbe Desmet, of Laval University, it was sent to the Department of Marine and Fisheries at Ottawa.

BOUND FOR ROTTERDAM

Montreal, Nov. 2. — The Dutch steamship Alphard, 2,470 tons, sailed from Montreal, bound for Rotterdam, Saturday, October 24. On Sunday, October 25, great gales swept the entire Atlantic coast, reaching into the St. Lawrence. Considerable damage was done to shipping and several transatlantic liners were held up for several hours in the Gulf. October 25 is the date given in the message.

The Quebec dispatch states the bottle communication was countersigned by "Captain Banderweevoen," but marine records here give the name of the master of the Alphard as Van Waarden.

FIRST UNITED CHURCH CONFERENCE IN B.C. IS BEING HELD IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Nov. 2. — The first British Columbia conference of the United Church of Canada is being held in Vancouver this week. A great luncheon gathering crowded the ballroom of the Hotel Vancouver to-day.

The new church has to be organized on this side of the Rockies, it is pointed out. MEMBERS, TIRED OF POLITICS, ANTICIPATE SHORT SESSION; LEGISLATION FORESHADOWED

P. G. E. Financial Changes, New Insurance Act, Legislation Covering University Expenditures and Measure to Iron Out Sumas Difficulties Form Chief Features of Government's Programme; Lieutenant-Governor Opens House With Time-honored Ceremony and Reads Speech From Throne.

The British Columbia Legislature opened for its annual Fall session to-day with most of its members determined to make their deliberations as brief as possible.

The House started on its sessional journey at 3 this afternoon when His Honor Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Nichol opened the Assembly with the usual ceremonies.

As the Lieutenant-Governor reached the Parliament Buildings in his car he was greeted by a smart guard of honor from the Work Point barracks, drawn up in front of the stone steps. His Honor was escorted by Premier Oliver and Mr. Speaker Buckham to the Executive Chamber. From there he proceeded to the Legislative Chamber, where naval and military officers commanding the guard of honor were drawn p to receive him. Mounting the Throne he read the King's Speech, formally opening the session.

When His Honor had left the Chamber presentation of reports and other minor routine business followed.

Legislation foreshadowed by the Speech from the Throne to-day includes a Bill to create a sinking fund for Pacific Great Eastern Railway debentures and put them on a more satisfactory basis; legislation to cover the over-expenditure of money in the construction of the British Columbia University Buildings and Point Grey; and a measure designed to iron out difficulties that have arisen between the Government and land owners at Sumas in the completion of the Sumas reclamation scheme. A new Insurance Act, governing the operation of insurance companies in this Province, also will be introduced, the Speech announced. It added that the Government intended to continue its fight for equalized freight rates. His Honor also requested the Legislature to consider the increasing number of inmates in British Columbia mental hospitals, which he called a "matter of grave concern."

The Speech from the Throne ran as follows:

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislature:

I welcome you to the second session of the sixteenth Parliament of British Columbia.

Business conditions throughout the Province have improved since you last met. This improvement is reflected in increased building activities and in the expansion of industries.

My Government has, since last session, continued its efforts to secure a removal of discrimination against British Columbia in the matter of railway transportation rates, and you will be pleased to learn that a considerable measure of success has attended these endeavors. My Government intends that there shall be no relaxation of effort to secure substantial justice for the Province.

Owing to a partial crop failure in Alberta and Saskatchewan in the season of 1924, the exports of grain from British Columbia ports were considerably less than in the preceding year. The improved crops of the present year indicate a very large increase in the amount of exportable grain for the present shipping season, and with the application of Crow's Nest Pass agreement rates, it is confidently hoped that this expected increase will be of such considerable volume as to create material stimulation in the business life of the Province.

LIQUOR CONSUMPTION IN B.C. DECLINING; DROP STARTED IN ADVANCE OF BEER BAR OPENING

Sale of hard liquor in British Columbia during the five months ending August 31, 1925, the period during which beer by the glass was on sale, showed a marked decrease over the same period last year, according to reports of the Liquor Control Board filed with the Legislature at its opening sitting this afternoon by Attorney-General Manson.

During the five months that the beer parlors were open hard liquor constituted only 51.9 per cent of the total sales. During the similar five months of 1924 the proportion was 64.8. The Attorney-General explained that wine was included with liquor in this calculation.

Not only in percentage but in volume did hard liquor sales decline. For the five months of 1924, ending August 31, the hard liquor sale totaled $3,156,150, but during the same five months of 1925, when beer was on sale by the glass, hard liquor sales were only $2,952,101.

Mr. Manson stated that beer by the glass was not necessarily accepted as the cause of the decline in hard liquor sales, as in many localities there had been a gradual decline for a year previous, which might possible be ascribed to the reaction against prohibition drought having spent itself to some extent.

The Attorney-General presented the report of the Liquor Control Board for the year ending March 31, 1825, and also a balance sheet for the six months ending September 30, 1925, just completed a day or two ago.

Profits and net sales show increase, operating and administrative expenses and cost of law enforcement show reductions.

EXPENDITURES AND REVENUE BOTH UP MINISTER SHOWS

Provincial Assets Show Substantial Increase, Dr. MacLean Tells Legislature

An increase in Government expenditure, balanced by an increase in revenue for the last fiscal year, was reported by Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Finance, when he tabled British Columbia's public accounts in the Legislature here to-day.

These accounts, covering the year ending March 31 last, show a total current expenditure of $18,219,865, or an increase of $1,520,679 over that of the previous year. Against this expenditure, however, the current revenue amounted to $18,823,557, or $603,492 in excess of current expenditures.

Capital expenditure out of income was $3,008,050, against which there was a capital revenue of $558,153.

JAPANESE BARON PROCEEDING TO LONDON EMBASSY

Baron Keishiro Matsui, Ambassador to Great Britain, Arrives Here

Had Distinguished Career in Wartime Ministry of Foreign Affairs

Baron Keishiro Matsui, newly appointed Japanese ambassador to Great Britain, arrived on board the Empress of Asia, docking at 11 a.m. to-day from the Orient, en route to take up his duties at the head of the Japanese legation at London, England.

Baron Matsui, who had a long and distinguished career in foreign affairs in the diplomatic corps of Japan, replaces Baron G. Hayashi. Three years before succeeding to the command of the legation at London Baron Matsui was Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Tokio Government, from 1921 to 1922, being given the cabinet position after three years as Japanese ambassador at Paris.

During the war years the Baron was under-secretary of foreign affairs at Tokio, where he distinguished himself at the critical period of the world struggle.

Accompanied by his retinue Baron Matsui will sail from Quebec on the Empress of France for London, where he will assume his new duties. The Baron was met on board when the Empress of Asia docked by a delegation of leading Japanese merchants of this city, and will be welcomed at Vancouver by the Japanese consul there, Mr. T. Kawai, who has been confined to his bed for the last ten days and was too ill to extend the official welcome here as planned originally.

Her engine room and No. 1 and No. 2 holds are full of water. The crew was taken off in boats and landed safely.

ARIZONA MARU CLEARS FOR SEA

Orientals Swell Volume of Eastbound Travel For Christmas Season

Outbound for the Orient on the scheduled sailing of the O.S.K. line, the Arizona Maru cleared from this port at 5 p.m. Sunday, after taking on eighty-five steerage passengers here.

All boats eastbound in the last few days have carried large lists of Chinese and Japanese passengers, returning to their homes for the Christmas season and the New Year.

The Arizona Maru docked at 4 p.m. after her passage down from Seattle and cleared one hour later for sea.

The Arizona took out 2,500 tons of bulk wheat, 275 tons of flour, 2,400 tons of salt fish, 2,000 cases of canned salmon, 150,000 feet of cedar bolts, 500,000 feet of Japanese squares, 5,500 bales of cotton, ten automobiles, 250 tons of spelter and other freight. First cabin passengers sailing on the vessel included C. T. Thomsen, a merchant, and Mrs. Thomsen, for Kobe, and Prof. K. Suzuki, returning to Tokio after visiting colleges in the eastern part of the United States. The vessel had about 140 third cabin passengers.

TO MARK HEROIC DEATH OF B.C. FOREST RANGER

Oliver Clark, British Columbia forest ranger, who died at his post of duty after heroically rescuing the inhabitants of an up-coast settlement, and whose charred remains were found over a log, his forest ranger's nickel badge clapsed in his hand, is to be honored with a place on British Columbia's roll of fame.

On Tuesday morning members of the Legislature and prominent figures in the lumber industry will gather at the Parliament Buildings where Premier Oliver will unveil a memorial to the gallant ranger. Clark died when he walked back into the flames at Fort Neville on June 25 after he had shepherded the women and children of the settlement down to the water's edge and embarked them in boats. He went back to make sure that nobody was left behind and was trapped in the flames when a huge tree fell across the trail.

EMPRESS OF ASIA HAS RECORD SILKS

C.P.S.S. Liner Carried 8,000 Bales in Westbound Voyage

Catholic Bishop on Way to Rome to Report on Foreign Missions

With one of the largest consignments of raw silk to be carried across the Pacific in a single vessel this year the C.P.S.S. liner Empress of Asia docked at 11 a.m. to-day from Yokohama with 800 tons of raw silk in her holds. The silk will be rushed from Vancouver east to New Jersey mills by a special train of twenty new-type cars assembled and waiting for it. The consignment totals in the neighborhood of 8,000 bales.

Commander L. D. Douglas, R.N.R., master of the Empress of Asia, reported an uneventful run from the Orient. Fifty saloon passengers made the voyage, returning for the most part from visits on pleasure and business in the Orient. Baron Keishiro Matsui is en route to the Japanese legation at London, England, the newly appointed ambassador from Japan to Great Britain.

Bishop Castanier, head of the Roman Catholic Church at Osaka, is en route to Rome on the decanal visit in reporting on foreign missions. This is his first visit to Western Canada, he told The Times on board to-day, though previous journeys have taken him to Eastern Canada.

The Bishop has spent twenty-six years at the Osaka mission, the last seven in his present rank. He will return by way of the Suez Canal, after making his report at Rome.

Mrs. Alec Tweedie, F.R.G.S., F.R.C.I., artist and authoress, is returning to England from a year of travel abroad in which time she saw a good deal of Soviet Russia, Siberia, China and Japan, and collected data for a work now in the hands of her printers, "An Adventurous Journey."

Mrs. D. A. Wilson, wife of a prominent banker at Singapore, and infant are en route to England and will stay some time at Vancouver visiting friends.

Dr. K. Ito, formerly professor of the Tokio School of Technology, is on a pleasure tour of the world after resigning from the faculty after long service. Others prominent on board were A. St. Clair Campbell, of Campbell & Co., Shanghai; Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Moody, well known Hongkong residents; and Mrs. G. L. Wilson, wife of a leading Shanghai architect.

The Empress of Asia set down 100 tons here and heavy mails before clearing for Vancouver at 12.45 p.m. Upwards of 1,500 tons of cargo are carried for her terminals, part for overland distribution and some for intercoastal water carriage to Atlantic ports.

Firemen Hurt When Two C.N.R. Freights Meet Head-on

McCreery, Man., Nov. 2.—A fireman was injured and twelve loaded grain cars and an engine went into the ditch following a head-on collision between two C.N.R. freight trains on Saturday afternoon. The westbound freight moved out on the station siding, but trianmen were unable to pull the switch quickly enough to avoid the collision.

The crews of both trains, with the exception of one fireman, leaped to safety. The fireman, whose name has not been given, suffered injuries to his left leg and hip.

SAYS CABLE OF EEMDYK SANK TUG IN TIDE

Vessel Would Otherwise Have Floated, Skipper Tells Marine Enquiry

Reviving the tragic details of the Hope disaster, when seven longshoremen were lost in the racing tide off Bentinck Island October 17, a marine enquiry sat to-day in the Post Office building to inquire into the causes of the accident and the sinking of the tugboat Hope. Capt. J. D. McPherson, together with Capt. Basil Combe and Capt. F. M. Cutler, presided as enquiry officers, and Gordon A. Cameron, for the Association of Transport Workers; Alexis Martin, for the officers of the tug Hope, and C. E. Wilson, for the Victoria and Vancouver Stevedoring Company, were the legal counsels present.

Capt. F. Forrest, master of the tug Hope who was in the pilot house and in charge of the little vessel when she foundered under the stern of the wrecked Dutch freighter Eemdyk, to which craft she was carrying men to work at the lightering of the cargo, told details of the tragedy this morning. At 10.30 Capt. McPherson began a series of questions to which Capt. Forrest responded, and Capt. Combe and Capt. Cutler also interrogated the skipper of the ill-fated Hope.

NEW TO CRAFT

Capt. Forrest said he had been only twelve hours, approximately, aboard the Hope. He had never been aboard the vessel before the day of the accident. He was not familiar with the ship before he took charge of her. He had made one trip to the wreck before the accident, on the afternoon of the same day, he said. There were plenty of lights aboard the Eemdyk and the Salvage Queen, which lay alongside her, to indicate the position of the vessels. When the Hope drew near to the wreck it was one-and-a-half hours before low water and the tide was running strong, said Capt. Forrest.

KNEW OF CABLE

Capt. Forrest knew of only one line out from the Eemdyk's stern. There were two, he found out afterwards, he said. This line, the existence of which he was aware, prevented his coming alongside the Salvage Queen against the tide.

"A very good reason," commented Capt. McPherson. "And to what do you attribute the sinking of the tug Hope?" asked Capt. McPherson.

"To the tide and the cable. She was dragged under," answered Capt Forrest. "She sank because she fouled the wire of the hedge anchor from the Eemdyk."

Both Capt. Forrest and his mate, Wilfred Fredholme, asserted that the hull of the Hope was not injured so that she would have sunk by weight of water. Had they got clear of the cable, both men said, they would have floated and the ship would have been saved.

HAPPENED QUICKLY

The loss of life, in Capt. Forrest's opinion, was due to the fact that the tide was so strong, and that the boat had gone aground quickly. The longshoremen were on deck and had they been below or inside would not have had as good a chance of saving their lives.

"When I came out of the wheelhouse," said Capt. Forrest, who had stuck at his post until the last moment," all the men had hold of lines. There was neither time nor opportunity to man the boats," he declared.

TIDE TOO STRONG

Asked what his actions had been prior to the time when the Hope had rammed the Salvage Queen, Capt. Forrest stated that he had signalled "slow" to the engine room when a distance of about half a mile from the wreck. Then his boat had crept slowly in towards the Eemdyk. He expected there would be a back eddy in the tide rip, but was mistaken. When he was a short distance from the side of the Salvage Queen he ordered "reverse" into the engine room. His ship would not answer her helm. A hail from the Salvage Queen told him to go astern. His engines were already pounding in that direction, but the ship still had headway. She would not stop. They bumped the side of the Salvage Queen without doing any damage to either ship, as far as he knew, Capt. Forrest asserted.

Wilfred Fredholme, mate of the little Hope, was called as the second witness. He corroborated Capt. Forrest's story in all details. But told of the cook attempting to throw a line aboard the Salvage Queen. Had this line been caught and made secure, he thought, it might have prevented the disaster. But it fell back into the water without being made fast.

"The Hope would have floated had she not fouled the anchor line from the Eemdyk," said the mate, thus affirming Capt. Forrest's convictions.

At a few minutes after 1 o'clock the inquiry adjourned to continue this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

AUTHORESS AND ARTIST HAS MANY THRILLS ON TOUR

Mrs. E. Alec Tweedie Returning to England After Tour of World

An interesting figure in the saloon list of the Empress of Asia docking to-day was Mrs. Alec Tweedie, F.R.G.S., F.R.C.I., artist and authoress returning to London, England, after a year's cruise around the out-of-the-way places of the globe.

Train wrecks and starvation in Siberia, earthquakes in Japan, and many other thrilling experiences fell to the lot of Mrs. Tweedie while gathering material for color sketches and for her latest book. The latter, "An Adventurous Journey," is now in the hands of the printers and is illustrated from color sketches by her own brush.

Fresh from that she describes as the want and misery of Soviet Russia to Japan, Mrs. Tweedie arrived in the land of the chrysanthemum at the time of the earthquake and took her first view of the quaint old world capitols amid falling ashes and debris.

Mrs. Alec Tweedie speaks with some satisfaction of an invitation by the Gallerie Georges Petits, Paris, to paint and exhibit 120 canvasses at the Paris salon in 1926. Her work on China and Japan will form the basis of the collection, intimated the artist.

While confined to her bed with a damaged foot Mrs. Tweedie completed 140,000 words of her book by hand, and is now in receipt of the first proofs of her work, the twenty-third published work over her pen name, Mrs. Alec Tweedie.

The authoress, in addition to other honors, is a fellow of the Royal Asiatic Society and the Royal Colonial Institute. She is the daughter of the late Dr. George Harley of Harley Street, London, and the widow of the late Alec Tweedie, a grandson of the man who in 1807 founded the first fever hospital in the world. Two sons served with distinction in the late war, one being killed in action at Ypres, and the other, Squadron Leader Harley Alec Tweedie winning the Air Force Cross for distinguished bravery in the Royal Air Force.

LITTLE INTEREST IN GETTING VOTE

Registration of householders and licensholders for the municipal franchise closed on Saturday afternoon with one of the smallest lists on record in recent years, only 1,296 names being added to the voters' list for the coming elections.

The office of City Clerk Bradley was kept open nightly for several weeks prior to the legal closing of the list to enable voters to register to the last possible minute the city officials concerned surrendered their Saturday afternoon holiday, keeping on the job until 5 o'clock. While a number of citizens registered during the afternoon, the final hour was extremely quiet, and the opportunity to register was not taken advantage of by the citizens to a fraction of the extent which had been anticipated.

PARIS RECALLS SARRAIL

Washington, Nov. 2—Official word of the recall by the French Government of General Sarrail as French High Commissioner in Syria reached the State Department to-day.

Here is the Proof

That Dr. Chase's Ointment does positively relieve the most severe cases of piles.

While Dr. Chase's Ointment is recognized everywhere as the standard treatment for piles you may be interested in this letter which describes one particular case. There are thousands of similar cases.

Mrs. Wm. Hughes, Appin, Ont. writes:—

"Dr. Chase's Ointment cannot be equalled. I used it for protruding piles of the worst kind. When the Doctor said an operation was the only hope, I began to prepare for one, when I remembered reading about Dr. Chase's Ointment. I resolved to try it, and after using two boxes I had no trace of the piles. It was the greatest relief I ever got, and I only hope other sufferers who read this letter will lose no time in purchasing a box, and see for themselves the miracles it works. It will be the best investment they ever put their money into."

COMING BACK

TWO INTERESTING FEATURES OF the recent Dominion election campaign are associated with Mr. Bowser. One of them is the activity the former leader of the provincial Conservative party showed throughout the contest, campaigning in most of the principal districts and generally conducting himself as if he were still in active public life—or expected soon to be. It was not the easiest thing in the world for Mr. Bowser to do, because he was encumbered by a lot of mental reservations. It was no easier, for instance, for him to appeal to the electors of Vancouver Centre to elect H. H. Stevens than it would have been for Mr. Stevens to ask the electors to send Mr. Bowser to the provincial Legislature. Each bristles at the bare mention of the other's name. Nor was it an easy task for Mr. Bowser to champion the cause of Dr. Tolmie whom a few local Conservatives still regard as the prospective leader of their provincial party—a post which Mr. Bowser expects to resume before long. The former leader, however, had to demonstrate that he was not a relic, and he did it not only with characteristic energy, but often in his speeches with that characteristic recklessness in statement which we recall so well.

The other interesting feature associated with Mr. Bowser during the campaign was the enthusiasm with which he was greeted by Conservatives at the various meetings he addressed. He won more applause than any of the candidates of his party for whom he was pleading. While Mr. Pooley, the present titular leader, was relegated to the wilds of Comox-Alberni and other isolated districts, Mr. Bowser was prancing about on his war horse in the big centres and getting most of the spotlight. All this means that in his own good time Mr. Bowser will come back, and coming back in his case means his resumption of the leadership of the provincial Conservative party. Napoleon is still in the saddle. No doubt the Bourbons, now trying to run his party in British Columbia, have taken due notice.

A GREAT EMPIRE TRIUMPH

AFTER AN ACTIVE LIFE OF ONE year—six months of last year and six months of this year—the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley has now passed into history as the most ambitious and successful panorama of the British Empire and display of its resources and potentialities ever assembled within such a comparatively small compass. Nearly thirty million people visited the great fair and it is estimated that at least ninety-five per cent. of this huge number passed through the Canadian Pavilion. To these were shown in the most interesting and convincing fashion the achievements of British peoples to date; and in addition to this visible evidence of things done, the exhibition in its entirety has undoubtedly conveyed a wider and more definite idea of what it will be possible for them to accomplish in the future. To put it briefly, and the business which it has created proves it, Wembley portrayed the Empire as the Empire has never been portrayed before.

It was undoubtedly excellent business for Canada to be on view at the exhibition in an impressive and practical form. Every visitor who toured our pavilion went away with a conception of this country and conditions obtaining here that he never would have obtained by any other means. But there have been more immediate practical results than those accomplished by the educational features. Considerably more than one thousand written inquiries a week were received at the Dominion's emigration bureau alone. In addition to these there were numberless requests for information concerning opportunities for investment in mining, hydro-electric schemes, and many kinds of industrial enterprise. Exporters of Canadian products, too, have reaped a fine harvest of orders through their exhibits; in a number of cases, in fact, entire surplus outputs for a number of years have been contracted for. It is also to be noted that customers now see menus containing a liberal variety of Canadian foods in leading restaurants in many parts of the Old Country. Such a thing was practically unknown before the exhibition. Then again many large stores are extensively going in for displays of Canadian goods.

Canada may also take special pride from the success of the fair because the idea was first proposed by Lord Strathcona. The suggestion would have been adopted long ago if it had not been for the tragic intervention of the Great War shortly after the proposal had begun to take practical shape. But the Strathcona plan was revived soon after the Armistice and by June of 1919 the British Empire League had appointed a committee to draw up definite plans. Before Christmas in 1920 a special Act of Parliament was passed, authorizing the British Government to contribute to the Guarantee Fund, and the Dominions officially invited to take part. The rest of the story is well known. From a purely financial standpoint the exhibition has not been a success. In an Empire way its success can not be overestimated.

PROGRESS MAINTAINED

OF VERY PRACTICAL INTEREST TO the people of this community is the decided improvement of our weekly bank clearings. Not only is this the condition locally, but it is to be noted all over the country. The weekly reports from the credit organizations, equally reliable and impartial, for some time have shown that in the great majority of reporting centres business has been good and is still improving, with collections from fair to brisk. These cold facts from quarters concerned only with actual conditions, unmoved by any sort of political declaration, harmonize with the cheerful pronouncements which have come from many prominent commercial heads and not a few well-known financial experts and bankers all through the Summer. They confirm the view of the president of the Canadian Pacific Railway company that conditions in Canada certainly give no ground for pessimism or justify the existence of apostles of gloom. Even a Conservative contemporary which has been for weeks telling us how deplorable is the state of business in Canada found room on its front page yesterday to inform its readers how local and Island progress is obvious in all directions.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN

WHAT WOULD HAVE HAPPENED in Vancouver on Thursday if the election contest in the three city divisions had been confined to the candidates of the two main parties is an interesting subject for speculation. In each case the Labor candidate polled a vote very much larger than the margin between the Conservative and the Liberal. The Liberals claim that the greater portion of that vote would have gone to their candidates, which would have ensured their election. Conservatives do not admit this, contending that the Liberals would have been lucky if they had drawn half the vote given to the Labor candidates.

Normally there is so little in common between the Conservative and Labor parties that it is hard to believe that any substantial portion of the vote given to the Labor candidates in Vancouver would have gone to the Conservatives in a straight two-party contest. In the last Parliament the Labor members invariably supported the King Government. The following table shows just how the three candidates stood in the three constituencies of Vancouver City:

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

MOTES AND BEAMS

From The Louisville Courier-Journal

Colonel Sweeney who heads the American aviators fighting with the French against the Riffs, calls those Americans "the bravest of the brave," and lauds their service as helping to check "the rising tide of barbarism." The Americans no doubt are brave, but fighting from aeroplanes people who have no aeroplanes to fight back, and dropping bombs on village women and children is hardly the best proof of bravery. And as to checking barbarism, there is plenty of it in the Americans' own country that needs checking and that might be checked without resorting to anything so spectacular as aeroplanes.

THE COMMUNIST MENACE

From The Ottawa Droit

The American Government has refused a Communist member of the British House of Commons, Shapurji Saklatvala, the right to land on American territory. The reason for this refusal, according to the statement of Secretary Kellogg, is that the United States cannot admit strangers who are going there for the purpose of anarchy or revolution, which would have for its result the overthrow of the existing Government. In addition to this, the recent American immigration laws have provided against this emergency in every text, and the present instance has only been one of applying an established law. Nor could they have acted more to the purpose! Nothing is more dangerous in reality than this British Communism, which springs directly from Moscow International. Countries which are in a position to protect themselves against this unholy doctrine should always do so, for it is in their best interests.

FOUR RIDINGS ARE OFFERED TO KING

erals last Thursday. The first came from Major C. G. Power, who was returned for Quebec South.

ONTARIO CONSTITUENCIES

Toronto, Nov. 2.—The Toronto Globe this morning gave prominence to the following:

"There was quite a trek to Ottawa last night of Toronto and North York political and personal friends of Premier King. They went away feeling that the Liberal leader is not going to play with the problem created by the general election last Thursday, which involved his personal defeat in North York. He is going to tackle it at once, they decalre, by a decision to continue in office and carry on.

"A beginning, they say, will be made by announcement that he will seek election in Prescott, Ont., or Russell, Ont. Gustave Evanturel, who was elected as an Independent Liberal in Prescott, or A. Goulat, Liberal member-elect in Russell, may be induced to resign.

"Toronto friends of Mr. King said last night he rather preferred Prescott if Mr. Evanturel would make way."

THUG AND DETECTIVE KILLED IN MONTREAL

Police took the prints of the bandit's fingers as he was dying Saturday night in the station. Fingerprints of Anderson arrived here this morning and Lieut. Roy Feris of the identification bureau at once declared they were the same.

FOUGHT TO THE END

Anderson went to his death fighting. So did Detective Hammond, who, although fatally wounded, wrested the revolver from the bandit's hand in an alley in the shadow of the police station, and then killed Anderson with the latter's own weapon.

The arrest was made after Anderson, who had $2,200 in counterfeit $20 bills on his person, had passed one for a box of candy in a restaurant.

To Talk on Kipling—A. W. Dunbar Taylor, K.C., of Vancouver, a noted exponent of the works of Drummond and other well-known poets, will give a lecture to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Memorial Hall, under the auspices of the Cathedral Women's Parish Guild. He will take Rudyard Kipling as the subject of his talk and will illustrate his lecture with a number of the poet's works.

B.C. LEGISLATURE OPENED SESSION TO-DAY

The construction of the university buildings has been completed and possession has been transferred to the Chancellor and the Board of Governors. The buildings are now occupied by the students and the teaching staff. Improvement of university grant lands has been continued; a subdivision has been plotted and a number of lots sold. It is the intention of my Government to continue the development of university grant lands for residential and business purposes.

In the construction of university buildings and in the improvement of university grant lands, there have been expenditures in excess of the amount authorized by the "University Loan Act." A bill to provide the additional moneys required will be placed before you for your consideration.

Returns received in respect to the mineral production of the Province indicate that the output for the present year will constitute a new high record.

The value of agricultural production continues to increase.

The value of fisheries production is being maintained, and it is expected that the 1924 yield will be equalled in 1925.

The lumbering business of the Province is now on a more satisfactory basis than heretofore. Exports to Great Britain have largely increased as a result (it is believed) of the educational effects of the Wembley Exhibition.

Owing in part to the very dry season, forest fires have been more numerous and more destructive than usual. The cost of fire-fighting has exceeded the moneys available and you will be asked to make additional provision therefor.

A Bill relating to debentures of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway Company, and for providing a sinking fund therefor, will be submitted for your approval.

A Bill to amend and consolidate the laws relating to insurance is in course of preparation, and it is expected that this will be ready for submission during the session.

Legislation having reference to the Sumas dyking district will be placed before you for approval.

The increasing number of inmates in our mental hospitals is a matter of serious concern, and will require careful consideration.

Satisfactory progress has been made with the extension of the highway system. Reconstruction of the Cariboo Road through the Fraser River Canyon is proceeding rapidly, and, before another session is due, connection with the road system of the interior will be had, and a closer connection between the coast and the inland cities will be established for all time.

The industrial jay-roll continues to show a substantial advance over former years.

The "Hours of Work Act," under the Board of Adjustment, appears to be operating successfully.

The report of the survey of the educational system of the Province has been printed and will be placed before you immediately.

There will be placed before you:

The public accounts for the fiscal year 1924-25.

The report of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

The annual report of the Liquor Control Board.

The reports of the several departments of the Government.

The estimates of revenue and expenditure for the next fiscal year will be submitted for your consideration and approval.

Gentlemen, I now leave you in full confidence that the work entrusted to you will be faithfully performed, and I pray that the blessing of God shall rest upon your labors.

ROUTINE BUSINESS

Numerous reports were tabled in the House after the Lieutenant-Governor had left the Chamber. Most of these covered the operations of Government departments. In accordance with a time-honored custom the Legislature asserted its rights by considering a forma bill in advance of all other business. After these brief formalities the House adjourned until to-morrow.

Members of the House assembling here to-day to start their annual labors appeared to be unanimous in their desire to get the session finished as soon as possible. Most members went through the Federal election campaign in the last few weeks, and have had their fill of politics for a while. It is believed that the session will be over well before Christmas.

Opposition members made it clear that they had no intention of trying to hold the House in session in order to embarrass the Government. There will be no obstruction during the session, it was declared. Conservatives are as tired of politics as Liberals and see no party advantage to be gained by a lengthy session.

Practically all members reached the capital this morning or this afternoon. A few late arrivals will arrive here to-morrow morning for the first day of actual work.

The opening ceremonies thhis afternoon were witnessed by a large crowd of Victoria people to whom invitations for the event had been issued.

OFFICIAL COUNT ADDS TO TOLMIE'S LEAD OVER IVEL

Voters Divided 6,928 For Conservative Candidate to 4,617 For Liberal

The official recapitulation of the vote in Victoria, at last Thursday's Federal election, was issued this morning by Returning Officer H. Alan Maclean. The figures show slight changes from the interim reports announced on election night Dr. Tolmie's majority being increased by sixty-nine votes, the official count being as follows:

Dr. S. F. Tolmie, 6,928; W. M. Ivel, 4,617; rejected, 110. The total poll was 11,655 votes of a registration of 16,142.

These figures were officially certified to this morning, and will be dispatched to Ottawa at once. Both parties have until next Monday morning wherein to demand a recount, which will be granted upon the posting of $200, to be forfeited should the result of the election not be changed. Changes in the figures resulting from a recount would not prevent forfeiture of the deposit unless the result of the election were altered.

Next Monday morning, as the final act entitling Dr. Tolmie to take his seat in the House of Commons, Returning Officer Maclean will endorse the writ, provided no protest is received in the meantime.

MANY WOMEN AIDED BY B.C. PENSIONS

According to the annual report of the Mothers Pensions Board filed by Hon. A. M. Manson, Minister of Labor, in the Legislature to-day, there were 943 mothers and 2,544 children receiving assistance under the act on September 30, 1925. The mothers included these classes: 556 widows, 155 deserted wives, 163 women with incapacitated husbands, 44 women with insane husbands, 11 women with husbands in prison, 12 unmarried mothers and 2 foster mothers. Of these 943 cases 484 resided in Greater Vancouver, 388 in other cities and municipalities and 71 in unorganized districts. The total disbursement during the year ending September 30, 1925, was $507,492, of which only 3.03% was for administration costs, this being the lowest percentage since the act came into force. Appreciation of the co-operation of municipalities and charitable organizations in cases not fully covered by the act is expressed in the report.

NEW LAW TO GOVERN LIABILITY IN CASE OF ACCIDENTS HERE

A measure of far-reaching importance as affecting liability for accidents where negligence is involved was laid before the Legislature at its sitting this afternoon by Attorney-General Manson.

It does away with the old common-law rule that where an injured party claims damages his claim is completely wiped out if it is demonstrated that there was contributory negligence on the part of the claimant.

In place of that doctrine the new bill lays down the principle of marine law that liability for injury, damage and loss shall exist to the extent of fault that may be found on both sides. Equal fault would mean that each party would pay half the damage, under this new law, it is explained.

The bill is a product of the labors of the Uniformity of Law Commission and has already been adopted in several provinces of Canada. It was given first reading this afternoon.

U.S. SECRETARIES TO GIVE EVIDENCE

Davis and Wilbur Called at Courtmartial by Col. W. Mitchell

Washington, Nov. 2.—Colonel William Mitchell, on trial by court-martial as a result of the criticism of the conduct of the Government's air services, to-day asked the court to summon Secretaries Davies of the War Department and Wilbur of the Navy Department as witnesses.

Several other high officials of the two departments, several members of Congress and more than sixty army and navy officers also were named by the defence in a list of those it would like to question. The name of President Coolidge did not appear on the list.

NEWSPAPERS' VIEWS ON NEW FEDERAL POLITICAL SITUATION

Views of Canadian newspapers on the situation following the Federal general election, gathered by the Canadian Press, are as follows:

MUST AVOID DISORDER

Toronto Globe:

"There is the possibility of the King Cabinet retaining office for a time, possibly until Parliament meets, as unquestionably the Government must be carried on.

"Sir Joseph Pope, a noted Canadian constitutional authority, has said it is customary for a defeated ministry to resign after an election without waiting for an adverse vote in Parliament, but if the result of the vote is inconclusive the Cabinet may retain office until defeated in the House. Should a cabinet not resign, the House might be called and a test vote invited. Another method would be to secure dissolution and have a new election, with the hope of a definite result. One thing is certain—chaos must be avoided. One party or the other must carry on the Goverment."

WOULD MEAN LOST YEAR

Nelson, B.C., Daily News:

"It comes down to this: Neither of the three parties in the new House can carry on except by some grace of the other two. Premier King might ask Mr. Meighen into conference, and Mr. Meighen might agree to bury party warfare so far as dividing the House would be concerned, for one session. But such a session would mean a lost year. Another appeal to the people is the only way to break the present stalemate."

ELECTION WITHIN YEAR

Calgary Albertan: "There is certain to be an election within the next twelve months, but the points which are doubtful is how, when and by whom is it to be called? It is evident neither party leader can carry on government, but a session of Parliament must be called to demonstrate clearly that deadlock. Mr. King would be justified in meeting Parliament and attempting to proceed with business. If he should fail it would be a matter of tactics whether or not he would go to the country as Premier. Possibly it would not be the best tactics to give the impression that he was straining the spirit of the constitution to get a questionable advantage at the polls."

ANOTHER ELECTION

Hamilton Herald:

"Should Mr. King decide to remain in office it would be good policy on the part of the Conservatives when Parliament meets to make no attempt to embarrass the Government, but to give it a general support for a while in order that necessary business may be transacted. But of course the situation could not last long. So about the only thing made sure by the general election is another general election."

MEIGHEN WOULD FAIL

Manitoba Free Press, Winnipeg:

"The point is, could Mr. Meighen carry on in the House? It does not seem probable. He went to the country asking for a mandate to raise the tariff and he has not received such a mandate. If he should attempt to put into effect the main plank of his platform he would in all probability face defeat in the House. It does not seem likely he can draw support from the other groups. The Progressives will be dead set against him and a Quebec that turned down Mr. Patenaude is not likely to grow enthusiastic about Mr. Meighen. Mr. Meighen would be forced to go to the country with a result that it would be difficult to conjecture."

CO-OPERATION PLAN

Guelph (Ont.) Mercury:

"Throughout the whole term of the last Parliament the Government was taunted because of its dependence on the Progressive Party—almost wholly composed of former Liberals—to carry legislation. There is now no good reason why it should not continue this co-operation until Parliament is again assembled, these parties still constituting a majority in the House. The Conservative Party, with 116 seats, and unable by an arrangement with Progressives, Labor or Independents to secure the necessary 123 to give a majority over all, has no claim or right to demand the resignation of the Government nor to presume because it has the largest group that it possesses a mandate to form a government. It could not carry the House on a division. Another appeal to the country will have to be made at an early date."

KING IN CONTROL

Ottawa Citizen:

"Mr. King is in control of the situation until Parliament meets, or can be quite constitutionally, if he considers it most advisable to consult Parliament before allowing another general election to be brought on. Mr. Meighen could do no better, without a clear majority."

TORONTO MAIL'S OPINION

Toronto Mail and Empire:

"The pretence that Mr. King has some kind of right to keep the country waiting until the House is assembled is preposterous.

"Mr. King himself has disposed of that. Why did he go to the country this year? His own answer was given in his Richmond Hill speech at the opening of the campaign. . . . He desired to be enabled by the people to put through the measures he had set his heart on. For that reason, he said, he asked His Excellency for dissolution. If Mr. King had not strength enough in the last House, how can he pretend to be in a strong enough position to do so now?"

QUEBEC AND ONTARIO

Hamilton Spectator:

"In the event of Mr. Meighen being called upon to form a cabinet many interesting possibilities arise. The strength of his backing in Ontario and the natural affinity of Quebec members, nominally Liberals, for the protectionist policies favored by the Conservative leader, support the contention Mr. Meighen would be much better able to carry on than Mr. King. The position of Quebec is indeed the factor of paramount interest at this time. The interests of Quebec and Ontario are, as a matter of fact, identical."

TACTICS DISCUSSED

Kingston (Ont.) Daily Standard:

"There may be nothing unconstitutional in any endeavor by Premier King to carry on, if he be so minded, but from a political standpoint we should regard such an attempt on his part as party suicide."

BEEKEEPERS TO MEET

The third annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Beekeepers' Association will be held on Wednesday, November 4, at 2.30 p.m., in the Chamber of Commerce View Street. The subject of amalgamation with the B.C. Honey Producers will again be discussed.

This subject was discussed thoroughly two years ago and it was then decided by a majority vote that the question be set aside for the present. It was felt that as long as the two older associations did not amalgamate the better course was for the Vancouver Island Beekeepers to remain a separate association on the understanding that as soon as amalgamation of Honey Producers and B. C. Beekeepers took place they would immediately become part of the large amalgamated associations.

It is now understood that the B.C. Beekeepers Association is practically non-existant not being recognized by the Government as a separate association. In this case affiliation is now possible and it is to decide this question that the meeting is called, in conjunction with the usual annual meeting for the selection of officers and usual reports.

CROYDON CITIZEN BELIEVED DROWNED

Prince George, B.C., Nov. 2.—After a wide search for the past month, during which bloodhounds were employed by provincial police in efforts to trace their whereabouts in the backwoods outside Prince George, William Hunt, sixty, one of two missing men, a well-known resident of Prince George, has been found at Dewey, east of this town, according to Constable A. H. Silk of the provincial police.

It is believed the other man, Charles Slater, postmaster of Croydon, who has been reported missing since October 15 last, fell into the Fraser River and was drowned.

PORT ARTHUR MAN DIED IN STONE QUARRY

Port Arthur, Ont., Nov. 2.—The body of Stewart McDonald, fifty-eight, a well-known citizen who had been missing since Monday last, was found yesterday in a pool of water in a stone quarry about two miles from his home. The body was first seen through a sheet of ice that had formed during the week. Mr. McDonald had left his home Monday morning, ostensibly to walk to his farm, seven miles out in McIntyre Township, and parties had been searching for him continuously since.

FASCISTI HAD BIG DAY IN CITY OF ROME

Rome, Nov. 2.—The three-day celebration of the third anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome had its official finale Saturday in a demonstration such as Italians glory in staging. The black shirted Fascisti, from Mussolini down, spent the entire day in glorifying Italianity, thereby letting the world know in no uncertain terms that Italy is not to be considered merely as a geographical division, but represents a rejuvenating force for the whole world if the Fascist programme succeeds.

Mussolini, standing on Capitol Hill, reviewed a Fascist parade which included tens of thousands of residents and representatives of Fascist organizations from all the European countries and both American continents here for their first congress.

SHIRLEY WOMEN HELP SOLARIUM

Special to The Times

Shirley, Nov. 2.—The Hallowe'en social held under the auspices of the Shirley Women's Institute was very successful, $18.01 being the amount to be handed over to the solarium to be built at Mill Bay for Crippled Children, after all expenses were paid.

A really good programme of songs, recitations and dialogues was given by the school children, under the leadership of the teacher, Miss M. P. Locke, who deserves every credit for the excellent results of the time and patience spent in training them.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to Miss Locke at the end of the programme. While a witch, in the person of Miss Vera Sullivan, dispensed fortunes to all and sundry for ten cents each, the children ducked for apples amidst much merriment.

Mr. Norval Milligan acted as chairman most acceptably, and Mrs. H. J. Kirby "presided" at the door.

The schoolroom was gay with all the traditional Hallowe'en paraphernalia and the institute races provided and served the refreshments. Dancing concluded a most enjoyable evening.

The efforts of the Shirley Women's Institute to provide an organ for the school met with the whole-hearted approval of the residents of the district, who contributed in one week the full amount required. The organ was delivered last week and will prove a great help to the children's singing exercises and at all entertainments.

The regular meeting of the Shirley Women's Institute will be held on Saturday, November 7, at 2 p.m. at the schoolhouse. The report of the conference delegate will be read and several matters of particular importance will be brought up for discussion.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Milligan have gone to Seattle for a few days.

Much regret is felt at the death of Mrs. William Halliday of Jordan River, who was well known here, and kindly sympathy is expressed for her bereaved husband and family.

When Oliver Cromwell Started to Build the Panama Canal (of course he didn't, but that doesn't matter), some big scientist said that all the water would flow from the Atlantic to the Pacific and the old world would get lopsided; you know, it would spill the beans, as it were. Well, the Atlantic didn't flow to the Pacific, the old world didn't go on the blink and, judging from the report of Rum Row, the Atlantic is far from dry.

Three years ago, as the crow flies, when THE GENERAL WAREHOUSE threw open its doors to the retail trade, the dismal Jimmies and procrastinating element raised their eyes in dismay and said: "Poor fellow, it's a pity he has not more sense than come to Victoria. "YES SIR, THAT'S MY BABY"

Isn't he a darling? Isn't he cute? Just look! He has mother's mouth, uncle's nose, auntie's eyes, and a smile like father when mother wants a new outfit; and oh, boy, you should hear him talk. Of course he doesn't exactly speak, but he makes sounds and we know what he wants. And oh, his voice, believe me, he'll be some singer. Our neighbor says he is a Nocturnal Falsetto. Strong? I should say he is. Uncle says he's strong as Gorgonzola (I don't know who that is, but he must be a big cheese). Gee, isn't he fat? Do you know when he was born he weighed 9¾ pounds in his stocking feet. Some said he would bust, but they were jealous; it's awful to wish harm to a little innocent like him, isn't it? It reminds me of a little gravestone in Derbyshire, England. It reads something like this—

Here Lies the Remains of the Infant Son of
John and Mary Jones
Died June 1st, 1871
Age 1 Day

"Since I was so quickly done for,
I wonder what I was begun for?"

"Yes, sir, that's my baby." You'll learn to love him.

Watch him grow, grow, grow,
With prices low, low, low,
He has many imitators,
But he fears no foe.

CRUSADERS' DANCE

Once again the Crusaders were popular hosts when on Friday evening their second annual Hallowe'en ball proved a huge success.

Hallowe'en decorations and the Crusaders' colors, blue and gold, with the numerous fancy costumes, added to the carnival effect. Several novelty dances were held during the evening which were encored many times by the dancers.

About forty or fifty couples attended this dance and thoroughly enjoyed the excellent music of the latest dance hits provided by Miss Waterhouse's orchestra.

The judges, Mrs. Moulton and Mrs. Street, experienced great difficulty in selecting the winners owing to the great variety of beautiful and striking costumes. The winners were: Best Hallowe'en costume, lady, Miss Helena Burley; gent, Dick Holman; best fancy dress, lady, first, Miss G. Swanson; second, Miss Annie Moir; gent, first, Frank Hare; second, Pat O'Neill. The success of the Crusaders' Hallowe'en dance and the good time enjoyed by all who attended is due to the excellent work of the dance committee under the convenership of Frank Moulton. The next Crusader event will be staged on Friday, November 13, at which special features are being arranged.

Do You Bake Your Own Bread?

Few people in the city do so, because cooking, like laundry work, is now a scientific process.

Years ago baking day was the big day in the home and WASH DAY was another. The rapid advance made in methods of baking and washing renders it unnecessary and expensive to stick to the old way.

You know exactly what your washing costs when we do it, and you know that your clothes and your linen are not worn thin by rubbing.

Mitchell & Duncan Ltd., wish to express their appreciation to the citizens of Victoria for the way in which they accepted the drastic reductions that were and will still be offered to our many patrons. This sale had to be put on owing to certain conditions, which would not interest you were we to put it all in print.

After due consideration we selected Mr. Horace Dorer as the most well known and efficient merchandising expert in the Jewelry Business. He comes to us well recommended and with a very clean reputation and we are guided by his advice. The pricing is all dictated by him and we do not interfere no matter what cut he makes.

STATE AUSTRALIANS SEE TRADE GROWTH

J. H. Woods and J. W. Dafoe, Back From Australia, Tell of Canadian Pact Situation

Imperial Press Conference Delegates Saw Much of Australasian Activities

Vancouver, Nov. 2—Returning from the recent Imperial Press Conference in Australia, J. H. Woods, president of the Canadian Press and editor of The Calgary Herald, and J. W. Dafoe, editor-in-chief of The Manitoba Free Press, Winnipeg, are in Vancouver to-day, having arrived yesterday afternoon from San Francisco.

Both Mr. Woods and Mr. Dafoe spoke highly of the arrangements made in both Australia and New Zealand whereby the delegates were enabled to see a great deal of the various activities in both countries. While nothing of major importance was done at the conference itself, the visit of so many leading journalists of the Empire to a part of the world which few of them had seen before was bound to have good results, they agreed.

"We had a very fine time, indeed, and saw many things of the greatest interest," Mr. Dafoe said. "We were shown the great sheep runs, the irrigated districts and the cotton areas, all of which proved strangely new to those of us who had not seen such industries before.

NEW TRADE TREATY

"Much interest is being shown in Australia in the new trade treaty with Canada, and great things are expected in the development of inter-Dominion trade," said Mr. Dafoe.

"Particularly in the currant and raisin industry the Australian growers and exporters are looking for a big business with Canada.

"We made inquiries and reached the conclusion the Australian currants especially are of a very high grade. In New Zealand, where they compete on even terms with the United States article, the Australian currant is favored. The raisins are good, too, especially the sultanas."

Mr. Dafoe will leave for Winnipeg to-night, while Mr. Woods will remain in Vancouver for a few days before entraining for Calgary.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Dolls Clothes

Copyright, 1925, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

(By Howard R. Garis)

The bungalow was on fire.

Once upon a time, as I may have told you, Uncle Wiggily met in the woods the Lady Mouse Teacher from the Hollow Stump School. The Lady Mouse had a water gun which she had taken away from one of the animal boys in class, and, just as she was showing it to the rabbit gentleman, and telling him about it, a cry rang out in the woods—a cry of:

"Fire! Fire! Fire!"

"Oh, my goodness!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily when he heard this. "Suppose it should be my hollow stump bungalow? Maybe it has caught fire while I am here looking for adventures. I'm going to run!"

"Then I'll run with you!" squaked the Lady Mouse Teacher, and run she did with the water gun. Uncle Wiggily arrived first, and saw that his bungalow was on fire. The roof had caught from sparks that flew out of the chimney, when Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy made a blaze on the hearth to broil some carrot pancakes.

"Oh, my bungalow will burn, and all my little bunny children, too!" cried Mrs. Longears, rushing out carrying a feather pillow, while Nurse Jane threw the clock out of the window.

"This is too bad!" shouted Uncle Wiggily! "Call the Police Dog! Telephone for the elephant fire engine!"

"Wait! Wait!" squeaked the Lady Mouse Teacher, scampering up the hill. "Here is the water gun! Fill it at the brook and squirt water on your burning bungalow, Uncle Wiggily!"

"That's just what I shall do!" answered the rabbit gentleman. And taking the water gun, he hopped to the brook. By pulling the handle of the water gun out the rabbit gentleman filled the hollow tube with water. Then he rushed back to the burning bungalow. One push on the handle and out shot a lot of water from the gun.

"Hiss! Siss!" the water fell on the burning roof, and soon the fire was out, so there was no need for the elephant to come and squirt water through his hosey nosey trunk, and no need for the Police Dog.

"Your water gun put out the fire very nicely, and I wish to thank you," said Uncle Wiggily to the Lady Mouse most politely.

"Yes, indeed," agreed Mrs. Longears. "Come in and have a cup of clover tea." So the Lady Mouse did, and while she was sitting there, and while Uncle Wiggily was telling his wife and Nurse Jane about his adventures, all of a sudden Jingle, one of the little rabbit girls, came into the room.

"Please, mother," she said, very politely.

"Yes, my dear, what is it?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"May Jangle and I go down to the brook to wash our dolls' clothes?" asked Jingle. "We couldn't go to school on account of the Lady Mouse Teacher not being there and——"

"Oh, my good gracious!" squeaked the Lady Mouse. "In the excitement about the fire I forgot to open the school. But I'll have it open in time for this afternoon. Be sure to come, children!"

Jingle and Jangle said they would, and then they went down to the brook to wash their dolls' clothes, for it was Monday morning, the proper time to do washing.

"Perhaps you had better go with them, Wiggily," said his wife. "Jingle and Jangle might fall in the brook while washing the clothes."

So Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pinknose, hopped down to the edge of the brook. In the distance he could see the little rabbit girls sozzling the tiny dresses in the water, wringing them out and hanging them on bushes to dry.

"I guess they are all right," said the rabbit gentleman to himself. "I'll hop along and have an adventure." He was just going to do this when, all of a sudden he heard Jingle scream. Then Jangle screamed, and there was a big splash in the water.

"Dear me! I wonder who has fallen in?" cried Uncle Wiggily as he hopped toward the stream. And what happened you shall hear in the next story; that is if the molasses cookie will kindly turn a somersault over the sugar bowl to make the vinegar laugh.

SHIDZUOKA MARU RAN OUT OF GALE ON EMPEROR'S DAY

Gay Festivities Marked Birthday of Ruling Monarch

N.Y.K. Liner Met Heavy Weather For Five Days in Crossing

After scudding before a gale under leaden skies for five days without relief the Shidzuoka Maru ran into fine weather for the Emperor's birthday, Saturday, October 31, reported Captain S. Ito, master of the N.Y.K. liner, which made port here at 8 a.m. yesterday from the Orient.

The storm struck the Japanese liner in mid-Pacific and heavy seas followed her without abating for the next five days. On Saturday, just as all on board were preparing to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the birth of Emperor Hiroshito, the seas went down and the Shidzuoka Maru caught the flash of the sun's rays on her sodden decks. The festivities were a great success, declared all on board, and helped to pass into forgetfulness the uncomfortable week that preceded the lull.

The relief was brief, however, for the Shidzuoka Maru ran into heavy fog at 9 p.m. on Saturday night and her sounding whistle took up its repeating tale at minute intervals.

Despite the arduous passage the N.Y.K. liner made port intact and without a single casualty or mishap to report.

Twenty-four passengers were in the cabins of the N.Y.K. liner, including several prominent in diplomatic circles in the Far East. Keh Hee Tseng, a cousin of the ruling leader of South China and appointed secretary to the Chinese consulate at New York, took passage on the Shidzuoka Maru, on a diplomatic mission from Peking.

K. Toyama, secretary to the Japanese consul at Seattle and formerly prominent in the Tokio staff of the Japanese foreign office, is returning after a brief trip to Tokio in the interests of his Government.

Professor T. Komatsu, teacher of Buddhist religion at a Nippon University, Japan, is on a educational exploration tour of this continent, which will last a year, before he returns again to the Far East.

Thomas Hammond, associated with the editorial staff of the Japan Advertiser, is returning to his home at St. Louis, after a year and a half at the foreign settlement. He is accompanied by Mrs. Hammond and will route through United States points to his home at St. Louis. Mr. and Mrs. Hammond went ashore here to have a look over the city between boat times.

The Shidzuoka Maru set down 114 tons of miscellaneous freights here, including mails. Four steerage passengers debarked at this point. On board were 2,060 bales of raw silk and about 100 packages of goods for the Eastern market. She cleared at 11.30 a.m. yesterday for Seattle.

The gross earning of the Canadian National Railways for the week ending October 31, 1925, have been $6,050,783, as compared with $5,141,398 for the same period of 1924, an increase of $909,385, or eighteen per cent.

U.S. SHIPPING BOARD ATTORNEY RETURNS

$1,000,000 Tangle in Failure of Japanese Import House is Now Settled

The failure of a large Japanese import house dealing in electrical supplies at Takata was responsible for the Oriental mission of R. H. Hallett, assistant counsel to the U.S. Shipping Board, who returned on board the President Jackson, arriving here Sunday at 8.45 a.m.

To The Times, on board yesterday, Mr. Hallett explained that he had gone to protect the interests of the U. S. Shipping Board in a financial puzzle which involved bills of lading for goods valued at over $1,000,000. The importing firm had hypothecated the bills to other banks and had then withdrawn the goods, it is asserted. The banks demanded security for the money advanced, to a total of over the million mark. The Shipping Board's interest in the matter arose from participation with other lines in the carriage of the goods.

Mr. Hallett, accompanied by his wife, sailed outbound on this mission in August and returns now at the successful completion of the work of straightening out the tangle. The party will route through United States points to Washington, where Mr. Hallett makes his home, and where he will report to the Shipping Board authorities.

Mr. Hallett is a well known barrister of Washington, D.C.

BAROMETER KICKS BOTTOM AS LINER FLEES BEFORE GALE

President Jackson Logs Lowest Mercury Reading of Her Career

Glass Dropped to 27.92 as Admiral Oriental Vessel Crossed 180 Meridian

The lowest barometric reading of her career at sea was logged by the President Jackson on her last voyage westbound from the Orient, according to Capt. John Griffith, her master, when the Admiral Oriental liner docked here at 8.45 a.m. Sunday.

The liner, which is of the 535 class of the U. S. Shipping Board, ran into heavy weather at the 180 meridian and her barometer dropped until it touched bottom at 27.92.

In thirty-two years at sea he has not before experienced such a low reading, states Capt. Griffith, who adds, however, that his ship rode out the gale that followed for five days, and is none the worse for her experience.

The President Jackson set down 150 tons of cargo and some passengers here before clearing for Seattle. Miss H. B. Innes was the only saloon passenger to debark here, though several steerage passengers left the ship at this point. The liner carried 150 passengers all told, forty-four in her saloon accomodation and the remainder in the steerage.

On board were 1,500 tons of general freight for Seattle and other United States points, including 1,200 bales of silk.

SHIPPING BOARD OFFICIAL

R. H. Hallett, assistant counsel for the United States Shipping Board, and Mrs. Hallett, returning from a business mission begun in August, and W. T. Alexander, prominent in the interests of the Palmolive products, accompanied by Mrs. Alexander, also on a business trip, were numbered in her saloon list.

Tea, silk, rattan, lily bulbs and porcelain were included in the 150 tons cargo set down here for Canadian points. The President Jackson cleared at 12.30 a.m. yesterday for Seattle, to complete her discharge.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

Equimalt.—To find the depth of water on the sill of the dry dock at any tide, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

CROWDS AT NAVY LEAGUE CONCERT FOR DEPENDENTS

Generous Response by Public to Appeal For Relatives of Tug Hope Victims

The two outstanding features connected with the concert held at the Coliseum Theatre last evening for the benefit of the dependents of the men who met death two Sundays ago in the sad disaster of the sinking of the tug Hope were the huge crowds present—hundreds being unable to obtain admission—and the generous response in the collections taken up both inside and outside the theatre.

The concert, under the auspices of the Navy League of Canada, and arranged by "Bob" Webb and F. A. Raynor, the local secretary of the league, was under the immediate patronage of Hon. Walter C. Nichol, the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, and Hon. Dr. Simon F. Tolmie, M.P., and Mrs. Tolmie. The three well-known vocalists, who sang splendidly, were greeted with the most enthusiastic applause. Those contributing their services were Mrs. Jesse Longfield, contralto; Miss Ada Wise, soprano, and H. J. Davis, baritone, while Mrs. Clifford Warn acted as accompanist throughout in her accustomed able manner. Numbers were also excellently contributed by a special orchestra under the direction of William F. Tickle, the instrumentalists being Messrs. Prescott, Cartright and R. Wood, violins; Harold Taylor, 'cello; Ball, double bass; W. Easton, clarionet; W. North, cornet; C. Raine, trombone; D. L. Pigott, tympani, and M. More, pianist, and by the Boys' Naval Brigade band, under Bandmaster Arthur Hodgins, which also found hearty favor. All taking part in these, too, gave their services. Sincere thanks are also due the management of the Coliseum for the use of their theatre, to the stage hands and necessary help to the lighting and heating connected therewith; to Fletcher Bros. for supplying free of cost a grand concert piano; to the Quality Press and Victoria Printing and Publishing Company for the programmes; to the Colonist and Times for free printing and advertising, and to Brown's Nurseries for the lavish floral decorations of the stage. Indeed, everything in connection with the happily conceived and timely affair was wholly voluntary, and following some well-chosen remarks by Dr. Clem Davies, prefacing the collection.

The collection taken up for the beneficiary fund amounted to $450, which will be used in its entirety for the relief of the dependents of the victims of the Hope disaster.

Police Commission Loses Patience With Hallowe'en Celebrating Gangs

"The time has come to stop the sale of firecrackers, bombs and similar noise makers," asserted Police Commissioner Staneland this morning, when introducing to Mayor Pendray Mrs. Dalmage, a victim of Saturday afternoon's Hallowe'en celebrations.

With an expensive overcoat and dress scorched to ruin by a giant cannon firecracker, the lady required no assistance to convince the Mayor that her nerves had suffered great shock and her purse severe loss as a result of the activities of a gang of boys.

"At the next session of the Police Commission I shall move for regulations which will effectively put a stop to such senseless annoyance," declared Commissioner Staneland.

Alderman Woodward happened to be present, and related instances where great damage by fire would have been caused by bands of lads but for the recent break in the weather.

Mayor Pendray expressed the regrets of the city to the lady, with an assurance that her nerve racking experience and financial loss would be deplored by all citizens, as an example of what might happen to themselves if the tendency among youths towards damaging mischief is not curbed.

FIRST UNITED CHURCH CONFERENCE IN B.C. HELD IN VANCOUVER

teries and congregations in the union strictly in accordance with their financial strength.

$4,000,000 NEEDED

The first budget of the church for the whole of Canada amounts to $4,000,000, a sum somewhat larger than was called for by the combined budgets of the three churches prior to union. Expenses of organization account for most of the excess, but stating the total sum that must be raised does not tell the whole story. More than two-thirds of the money required is for home and foreign missions and social service work.

These schemes accounted for a very substantial part of the work of the Presbyterian Church before union, and practically all of that work has been taken over by the United Church. Only twenty out of 700 missionaries in the foreign field voted not to join the union, while scarcely any of the 773 home missioners deflected. In effecting the union, however, thirty per cent. of the membership of the Presbyterian Church was lost. The United Church then must finance all the costly work of the three old churches and must pay the expenses of union and it must raise the money required from a membership considerably smaller than that to which the three old churches looked.

TO RAISE $175,000

The portion of the $4,000,000 which British Columbia will be expected to raise is $175,000, and of that $102,000 has been assessed upon the three presbyteries of Vancouver West, Vancouver East and New Westminster. During the next few weeks an active campaign to secure this money will be carried on in the Province. Their task is no light one, but much depends upon the success they have.

The world is watching Canada's great adventure in church union. The British Weekly has said that the formation of the United Church in this country has been the most important step in the history of Christendom since the Reformation, and Rev. Dr. T. Albert Moore, general secretary of the United Church, has stated that since last June he has received no fewer than sixty-eight requests from other countries in various parts of the world for information regarding church union.

"By venturing as far as we have, we in Canada have already been an inspiration to others," said Dr. Moore. "We can do more still by making our venture a success. Even if it does mean digging deeper into our pockets, who will say it will not be worth while?"

Strawberry Vale Card Party.—The second of the Winter series of card parties under the auspices of the Strawberry Vale Women's Institute will be held in Strawberry Vale Tuesday evening, November 3, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Coverdale and Mrs. Huntington have been appointed conveners for the series, and arrangements include several good prizes for each party, a warm hall to greet the players and good refreshments provided.

Garden City Social—The Garden City Women's Institute held their regular fortnightly five hundred drive in the Marigold Hall on Friday evening, which proved most enjoyable and successful. Prizewinners were as follows: Ladies, first, Miss G. Miller; consolation, Mrs. Shingleton; gentlemen, first, Mr. E. Exton; consolation, Mr. Newcomb. Refreshments were served by the conveners, Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Wilkinson. The next drive will be held on November 13.

WILL BE WITNESSES IN ABDUCTION CASE

Attorney-General and M. B. Jackson Will Appear at Vancouver Assizes

The Attorney-General, Hon. A. M. Manson, and M. B. Jackson, K.C., will be called as witnesses in the Wong abduction case at the Assizes now proceeding in Vancouver. Stuart Henderson of Victoria, who will appear for Point Grey police officers facing charge of abduction of Wong Foon Sing, stated before he left Victoria to-day. No bill was returned against Wong, who faced a charge of murder in the Janet Smith case. During the court proceedings he told a graphic story of being spirited away and held prisoner some time after the murder where, under threats, an attempt was made to force him to tell all he knew of the murder of the Scotch maid employed in the Baker home in Shaughnessy Heights.

IMPROVEMENT IN AGRICULTURE TOPIC

Dr. Tolmie Tells Gyros of Some of Needs of Basic Industry of Canada

That by a slight improvement in the cultivation of the soil and a little higher grade of livestock the agricultural products of the Dominion of Canada could be increased $508,000,000 a year was the statement made before the Gyro Club to-day by Dr. S. F. Tolmie, M.P., during an address on "The Great Importance of Agriculture to the Future of Canada."

Dr. Tolmie told of the loss suffered by the farmer who bred and raised inferior cattle, and of the "soil miners" who worked the land until there was no good left in it. By a slight improvement in all branches of the industry the returns to Canada would be enormous, he said.

"Agriculture means the prosperity of the whole country, and affects every other business or industry," declared Dr. Tolmie. "If we place it on a safe and sound basis the rest of the country will take care of itself."

Regarding the two types of farmers, the single-crop and mixed, Dr. Tolmie said that the latter could go on for ever, whereas the former could only last until his soil was worked out. Mixed farming was open for much improvement in Canada, he said, and told how the Argentine has improved its cattle by the importation of the best bulls from Great Britain, the growing of alfalfa crops and allowing the cattle to run all the year round.

EXPERIMENTAL FARMS

Canada's agricultural colleges were helping in improving conditions, in Canada, although Dr. Tolmie thought a great many of the boys who went from the land to college never went back to the farm after graduating. The experimental farms were doing a great work, and the discovery of Marquis wheat by the Ottawa farm would pay for the cost of the entire system, stated the doctor.

The development of markets abroad and a sound policy of immigration, whereby men would be placed on the land who would be willing to make a living on the land, were other ways of helping agriculture. In conclusion the doctor advised the citizens to buy home products, thereby keeping every dollar in the country.

Gyro Aubrey Kent won the attendance prize to-day.

VICTORIA CHINESE STAGE CELEBRATION

Spectacular Procession Marks Opening of New Benevolent Association

To mark the official opening of a branch of the Kong Chow Benefit Association in Victoria a spectacular celebration was staged in the city's Chinatown yesterday afternoon and evening.

Hundreds of citizens viewed the parade, which was led by a gorgeous Chinese dragon in gaudy colors, carried through the streets by a dozen concealed Chinamen who formed the body of the monster. The massive head moved in realistic fashion as it proceeded along the streets. A score of pretty Chinese girls dressed in native costumes formed a bright feature of the procession. The parade made three appearances, once at 1 o'clock, again at 5 o'clock and in the evening at 10.30 o'clock. Following the evening demonstration the members of the newly formed society proceeded to the Chinese theatre where a native orchestra rendered selections.

Prominent citizens from Vancouver and up-Island points came to Victoria for the occasion. Speeches were made at the theatre, the affair lasting until well past midnight. Thousands of rounds of firecrackers were fired off during the day, providing plenty of entertainment for hundreds of kiddies, who thronged the streets of Chinatown.

The headquarters of the society are in Vancouver, where the association was started a few months ago. The local branch will have their rooms at 1501 Government Street. The association is for members of the Kong Chow district in China.

Sinclair, Minister without portfolio, by eighteen votes. In all, twenty-nine errors have been uncovered to date in the figures furnished to the telephone company election night. Discrepancies have also developed in the figures furnished the various candidates by the same deputy returning officers.

A careful re-checking of the figures furnished to the telephone company established a tie between Sinclair and Donald McKinnon, Conservative, for the second seat. The result will not be finally determined before the declaration on November 10.

BISHOP O'DONNELL BACK FROM ROME

Head of Church Here Tells of Wonders and Inspiration of Holy Year Celebration

Right Rev. Thomas O'Donnell, Bishop of Victoria, returned from Rome at the week-end and at the 11 o'clock High Mass at St. Andrew's Cathedral here yesterday he conferred on the clergy people of his diosese the special papal blessing conferred upon them in the name of His Holiness, Pope Pius XI.

The Bishop went to Rome on the special invitation of the Pope. While in Rome he saw the impressive gatherings of pilgrims from all parts of the world which featured the Holy Year celebrations. The Bishop was celebrant at the 9.30 o'clock Mass yesterday and spoke of his trip and visit to the Pontiff at the two morning services.

Rome, he said, during Holy Year, which is being observed with great pomp and ceremony, is more than ever an inspiring centre of devotion.

"Pilgrims from every country under the sun were gathered in the great Basilica, St. Peter's, in peace and concord, and five or six times a day they were addressed by the Pope," the Bishop went on. "No court in Europe could be surrounded by greater splendor than that of the Vatican, yet the Holy Father himself, the centre of it all, is kindness and simplicity itself."

Bishop O'Donnell told of the private interview he had with the Pope, declaring he was surprised at the extent of the knowledge possessed by Pius concerning the diocese of Victoria and Vancouver Island.

He had an eventful life. His father was a contractor and builder, and the future knight worked for years as a young man as a carpenter. After going through the Osgoode Hall Law School in Toronto he went to Winnipeg. Medicine Hat claimed him next, but he boarded the first through C.P.R. train containing the heads of that railway and went as far as Calgary, arriving there in 1885, which city had been his home town ever since.

OWNED REAL ESTATE

All Sir James Lougheed's investments in property were in central Calgary real estate. He bought land along what later were the main streets of the city.

A few years ago Sir James paid half the taxes of Calgary. He named his blocks of property after his sons. He was identified with many companies, being a director of the Canada Life Assurance Company, Metals Ltd., the Calgary Natural Gas Company, the Lougheed Properties Ltd. and others.

He was married in 1884 to the eldest daughter of the late William Hardisty, Chief Factor of the Hudson's Bay Company and brother of Lady Strathcona. "THE LOST WORLD" GREAT SPECTACLE OF CAMERA ART

Dinosaurs and Prehistoric Monsters Provide Plenty of Thrills in Conan Doyle's Story, Opening at Capitol To-day.

The most marvelous film of all time is to be shown at the Capitol this week. It is First National's long-heralded picturization of Conan Doyle's, "The Lost World."

The story takes a group of intrepid explorers into the middle of a wilderness where roam the dinosaurs—and their related animals—of millions of years ago. How these animals have been recreated on the screen and how they are shown with the actors in the cast, dwarfing them until they are nothing more than ants in size, we will leave for some technical expert to explain. Suffice it that these scenes are amazing to the point where they become magical in their effect.

The battles between the beasts, their flight before volcanic fire, their eating, breathing—all these scenes move before the eye in a panorama of miracle-like quality.

If "The Lost World" does nothing more than to display this startling development of invention and photography, the show at the Capitol Theatre will be well worth the price of admission. But these scenes have been cast in a story that supplies all the necessary elements of popular appeal. There is romance, splendid characterization and superb comedy. The blended whole is a mightly tribute to the directorial genius of Harry O. Hoyt.

The story concludes with a giant beast, the brontosaurus, running wild in the streets of London. Eventually he breaks through London Bridge and the Thames sweeps him out to sea. Here in these scenes there is spectacle, awful calamity and sparks of comedy. It is a magnificent finale.

Too much cannot be said in behalf of the cast. It enters into the spirit of the story with an enthusiasm which contributes much to its success. Wallace Beery's characterization of the chief explorer, a modified dramatization of "The Terrible Tempered Mr. Bangs," is outstanding. The work of Lewis Stone, Bessie Love and Lloyd Hughes is none the less effective.

Nor can too much praise be meted out to Watterson R. Rothacker, who, in association with First National, presents the picture, nor to Earl Hudson whose supervisory work must have entailed a thousand of the most difficult details. All concerned in the production of the picture have scored a triumph.

Others who appear in the cast are Arthur Hoyt, Jules Cowles, Bull Montana, Margaret McWade, George Bunny, Charles Wellsely and Alma Bennett.

"Kidnapping Flora" Hincks' Vehicle at Playhouse Theatre

"The White Monkey" Will Be Screen Offering for Current Week

One of the biggest casts of principals ever got together in Victoria are in Reginald Hincks's roaring musical comedy, "Kidnapping Flora." You won't laugh, you'll scream at the antics of Michael O'Hallaran (played by Ernie Petch), and the widow Bloggs (played by Miss Marie Broadman), (who made a big hit last week in her first appearance at the Playhouse.) Peggy Lewis has one of those parts which made her so popular; in fact, all the players, including Hugh Williamson, Harold Beetel, Eileen and Audrey Bennett and Reginald Hincks, are so well casted that "Kidnapping" Flora, should be one of Mr. Hincks's big musical successes.

Then the screen comedy with Lloyd Hamilton, which will certainly tickle your ribs, and to balance what should prove one of the best double bills we have offered. The feature picture in its premier show in British Columbia, John Galsworthy's "White Monkey."

CANNY INVESTMENT

Tramp (to kind-looking gentleman): "Can you spare me a copper, guv'nor?"

The gentleman gave him twopence and asked what he would do with it.

"Well," said the tramp, "I shall have a bath first, then a good suit of clothes, then a good breakfast, and I shall put the rest in the bank."

"Day's Sport" and "Crowded Hour" at Coliseum This Week

Stock Company Presented Good Comedy. Bebe Daniels on the Screen

"A Day's Sport" is the title of the comedy which the Coliseum company will open with to-night and it promises to be one of the best they have ever offered. It has a plot which creates a series of complications in which George Olsen as a hunter is the central figure and is another adaptation for the stock company prepared by the versatile manager Frank Allwood. George Brydon, Ruth Hamilton, Eva Hart, May Rodwell and Gladys Burton are the rest in the cast this week and everyone has an even share in creating the fun. There are some good musical interpolations in line with the usually fine offerings of the Coliseum company.

"The Crowded Hour," the latest Paramount picture, starring Bebe Daniels, booked this week, includes the biggest line-up of popular players in the cast that has ever appeared in support of Paramount's newest star.

Kenneth Harlan has the leading man's role in the production, which is a screen version of Channing Pollock and Edgar Selwyn's immensely popular stage play of the same name. T. Roy Barnes is Bebe's stage partner in the picture. Miss Daniels plays Peggy Laurence, a pretty young telephone operator who "plugs" her way to fame on Broadway.

Helen Lee Worthing, "Follies" beauty seen recently in "The Swan," plays Harlan's wife in "The Crowded Hour." Romance for her husband and herself has become sort of a frayed out affair, though neither will divorce the other. Naturally enough, Harlan turns to Bebe, and there are no end of complications.

Other prominent players in the cast are Frank Morgan, of the Broadway stage success, "The Firebrand," Alice Chapin, Armand Cortez and Warner Richmond.

Charlie Chaplin Has Fun in Frozen North As Tenderfoot Miner

"Strikes it Rich" in the Land of Gold But Loses His Sweetheart

Charlie Chaplin as a pathetic tenderfoot struggling along with hundreds of others in search of gold in the Klondike, with all the Chaplin tricks of old—this is the keynote of what has been described as the greatest Chaplin comedy ever filmed —"The Gold Rush," to show for one more week at the Dominion Theatre.

Pathos and whimsical comedy are blended cleverly in "The Gold Rush," which was more than a year in the making, which will be shown in nine reels, and which has in it all the elements of "big production" which have been lacking in the earlier and shorter Chaplin films.

There is the scene, for instance, where Chaplin, the tenderfoot, just a bedraggled bit of lonely humanity, finds a sympathizer and a sweetheart—a girl in a dance hall. In her garish finery she dances with the sad little tramp, who beams over her shoulder into the eyes of his rival, a wealthy miner.

There is Big Jim McKay, a giant with ox-like strength. He is enraged and the little Lone Prospector trembles as the big man menaces him. And the little man thinks that death, after all, is better than the loss of the queen of the dance hall.

To have the right types in Truckee, in Northern California, where many of the scenes of the picture were photographed, Chaplin took a special trainload of tramps, with well-seared faces and tattered garb. In several sequences it seems an endless line of ragged humanity that is crossing the Chilkoot Pass. A blizzard rages, and men are blown about helplessly and hopelessly. They fight on doggedly, as this winding path cut through the snows over a precipitous mountainside, is the gateway to their goal—the Klondike, and gold.

In another stretch in the film is Black Larson, a fugitive. He builds a little hut in the Alaskan mountains, and there lives as a hermit, amid snow and ice. To the hut comes the pathetic little tramp—Chaplin. He knocks at the door for rest and a bite of food, before plodding on to the land of promised gold.

The scenes aboard a steamship show human interest at its height. The luxury and comfort of the first cabin are contrasted with the misery and want in the steerage. There is the little man, who a few years before went on the long hike to the Klondike, and now on board the ship is seen in rich raiment and costly furs. He is unhappy because he has lost his sweetheart. And in the steerage—there is a girl returning from Alaska, dreaming of, and wishing she could find her dear little tramp again.

Concert Tours by Blind Organist on Four Continents

The rise to popularity of organ recitals by famous organists has been one of the most significant developments in the field of music. The rapid progress of the organ towards orchestral color and musical flexibility as well as the increasing use of the instrument in public halls, in private homes and on the concert stage have all contributed to this noteworthy fact.

But organ recitals, when played by great virtuosi have always been a popular feature. Frescobaldi, the great organist of the seventeenth century drew as many as 30,000 people to St. Peter's at Rome, where he played, according to contemporary chronicles. The great Bach walked fifty miles to hear Buxehude, a noted German performer of the seventeenth century. The great Guilmant in his historic series of recitals on the great organ at the St. Louis Exposition, the late Frederic Archer at Pittsburg, Wm. T. Best at St. George's Hall, Liverpool, and in our own day the record breaking tours of Marcel Dupre and Charles M. Courboin—these are matters of record.

No organist of recent times, however, has played on as many continents as Alfred Hollins, England's famous blind organist and composer, who since his debut as boy prodigy has concertized not only in England, Scotland, Ireland and Germany, but has made three tours to South Africa, tours to Australia and New Zealand and two hours of America, the last being in 1888.

In Sidney, Australia, he was greeted by an audience of 4,000 people when he played on the great Town Hall organ—the famous instrument which possesses the only 64-foot pedal stop in the world. According to the Sydney Sun, Hollis proved to be "A startling surprise—a revelation—with amazing gifts, both as an interpreter and as an expert executant."

When the noted Englishman dedicated the huge organ at Johannesburg, South Africa, the Chronicle exclaimed: "If blindness has its compensations, then it surely has them in Hollins's case, for his music is the music of a soul expressing itself unfettered by material distractions. One lost sight of the fact that there was such a thing as technique and heard only the wonderful effects produced."

Hollins returns to this continent with his powers at the height of their maturity. His recital here will take place on Monday evening, November 9, at the organ of the Metropolitan Church. Tickets are now on sale at Fletcher Bros.' Music Store.

FOX NEWS | PATHE REVIEW

COMPLETE NEW SHOW IS OFFERED BY ORIGINALS

Famous Soldier Entertainers in Bang-up Revue "Thumbs Up" Will Return to Royal Victoria Theatre on Thursday for Three-day Run.

"The Originals," Canada's now famous soldier revue, will be seen at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Thursday evening, November 5, in an entirely new entertainment which they have aptly titled "Thumbs Up." No pains or expense have been spared to make their latest revue a better one than any of its predecessors in the matter of new comedy and musical material, new costumes, new effects, and even a newcomer to the company. Jimmie Goode, the highly popular blackface comedian, is back with his old comrades of overseas with new songs, new jokes, but the same old clever way of "putting them over." Gene Pearson, of the marvelous soprano voice, has a new repertoire including the waltz song from "Romeo and Juliet" and he is singing more brilliantly than ever. He also has some very smart new gowns and wraps which will excite the envy of the feminine admirers of the company.

Bob Anderson has a bunch of new comedy hits in songs and sketches and he is bound to be as popular as ever.

Alan Murray, noted for his graceful dancing and ability in staging his dances, will be seen with Stuart Callaghan, a new member of the organization and a fine dancer, in "Some Night, Some Waltz, Some Girl" as well as in other special and spectacular songs and dances.

The singers, Lionel Broadway, Thomas Dunn, Jerry Brayford, Percy Campbell and Bertram Langley have loads of good stuff in the way of ensembles and solos, including "The War Might Have Been Worse," said to be a cracker-jack of a hit.

The revue has been staged under the able direction of those two veterans and artists of that sort of thing, Leonard Young and Alan Murray, and ranges from comic skits to such a delightful fantasy as "The Princess Must Marry."

Costumes and wigs from London, shoes from New York, gloves, fans and other dainty and modish toilette accessories from Paris, constitute a most entrancing part of the entire new stage equipment for "Thumbs Up."

With this unique review before a brilliant audience of admirers there is no doubt as to the verdict of those "in front" from pit to gallery—there will be no cries such as used to greet the conquered gladiators in the olden days in the arena—no "Hic habet" and a reversal of thumbs! But it will be "Thumbs Up!"

New Artists Have Good Opportunity in Columbia Offering

Director Assembles New Cast in Support of "Wild Justice"

An exceptionally well-balanced cast supports Peter the Great in "Wild Justice," his new starring production, coming to the Columbia Theatre To-day under a United Artists Corporation release.

In line with his firm belief that there are hundreds of virtually "unknown" actors and actresses in Hollywood possessing marked screen talent, John W. Considine, Jr., producer, interviewed more than 300 applicants before selecting his players.

George Sherwood, who has the leading role, comes from a theatrical family. He decided upon a stage career immediately upon completing college, and less than eighteen months ago reached Hollywood to enter motion pictures.

From the first his success was marked. After mastering the "mechanics" of motion picture acting he achieved leading roles in several productions. His work in "Wild Justice" is believed to be the best of his career, and as a result of his selection by Mr. Considine he is expected to forge rapidly to the top.

Frances Teague, the leading feminine player, was attending a finishing school near Chicago when she had her first taste of theatrical work, and decided to become a professional actress. Given the starring role in the annual school play, she won such marked success that her teachers advised her to study dramatic acting. She did, and is rapidly becoming prominent in motion pictures.

CAPITOL WILL PRESENT EXTRA MUSIC ATTRACTION

The management of the Capitol Theatre is pleased to announce that they have secured for a return engagement the Strand Opera Company which made such a favorable impression in this city on their last visit. Since then the company has been materially strengthened and the programme to be rendered during the first week's engagement here is one that should be favorably received.

A glance at the numbers to be rendered both afternoon and evening by this company will convince music lovers that they are in for a real treat.

The programme is as follows: Prologue to "Pacliacci; solo, Harry Pfiel; aria, "Vissi D'Arti," Theo Pennington; duet from "La Boheme," Carl Bundschu and Harry Pfiel; solo, "Simon the Cellarer," Ed Andrews; "Sextette from Lucia," Theo Pennington, Carl Bundschu, Harry Pfiel, Ed Andrews, Victoria Andrews, Lilian Stout.

Musical Notes

By G.J.D.

Victoria's concert activities have begun, and in the course of the next few weeks will very well have finished the first lap of a season that promises to be a particularly bright, busy, diversifying and educational one. Two recitals have already been given with much success—that of Mary McCoy Jameson, soprano, and Eva Baird, mezzo-soprano and the Ladies' Musical Club has already contributed one of their many worthwhile and standard afternoon programmes and an evening recital, and early next month (November) the noted blind organist of England, Alfred Hollins, gives a recital at the Metropolitan Church on the ninth and Efrem Zimbalist, the distinguished Russian violinist, plays at the Royal Victoria on the eleventh. Later in the month we are to have the "Messiah," by the augmented First Presbyterian Church choir, under Jackson Hanby. This will be followed by the Arion Club's first concert, and an interesting programme of madrigals and early century music will be given by the Schubert Club, under Frederic King.

Miss Barbara Gregory, daughter of Mr. Gregory, of Britain's Foreign Office, has inherited the voice of her famous great grandmother, Jenny Lind. At a recent amateur concert she created a most favorable impression. She has a soprano voice of great beauty and range.

Joyce Bannerman, now a naturalized American citizen, is one of the foremost sopranos of the States. Her father is a Canadian and her mother comes from a very old English family.

The great master, Beethoven, wrote some variations on Britain's superb National Air "Rule Britannia." This is his opus 26, and the first copy made of this patriotic theme is beautifully engraved. At the bottom of a page appears the note "Beethoven's Variations, No. 9."

In the early progress of the art of music much was forbidden and unrecognized, which theorists of all countries now freely admit and permit. Mersenne, Zarlino, Rameau and others in former times went groping after principles, formulae and guiding rules, fettered and hemmed about with constant uncertainty and timidity.

Students of music should lay to heart the remark once Beethoven uttered to the famous theorist, Cipriani Potter, "I have not studied enough."

Some of the best of the old masters, such as Handel, D. Scarlatti, and Mozart, have left us many examples of the sixth and seventh notes raised in the descending minor scale, a far from agreeable arrangement.

Perhaps no composer has adopted scale passages in their works than has Mozart. Different minor scales are also frequently found in Beethoven's Sonatas; notably in op. 2, No. 1 (first movement); op. 10, No. 1 (firstmovement); op. 13 (last movement); and op. 57 (last movement). For such examples violinists can look to the great violin school, by Ludwig Spohr.

Music written for motion pictures may be broadly divided into two classes: the one in which the programme is entirely of standard music gathered from many sources, and woven together to fit in and interwoven with the dramatic action of the picture without any pretence to originality, the second is entirely original, the scores or numbers being expressly composed in the manner of grand opera, using the continuity of the picture instead of the libretto. These scores are selected and written with the greatest care and without them a first rate presentation is impossible.

In the time of the Tudor Sovereigns, which particularly recall the musical glories of Henry VIII and Queen Elizabeth, there were in use many peculiar and wonderful instruments. There were the sackbuts, the players of which were called sackbutters. Queen Elizabeth maintained twenty-five of these players in her musical household and spent over $7,500 a year on her musical affairs and her many instrumentalists. There were then flutes and fifes, bombards, shawms, cornets, clashpans, a sort of cymbal, pipes, tabors, hurdy-gurdys, and crowds, a peculiar and awkward squarish sort of fiddle with five or six loose strings. The Royal Shawms as they were called, were in four principal sizes, and their tones represented and corresponded to the four types of human voice. There were also in this family "extra" pitched shawms, one was a tiny high treble shown, less than one and a half feet long, another was a huge double bass bombard, which measured nine feet eight inches in length, and was one straight piece, the player usually having an assistant to help in its carriage. All these were blown with a big, coarse double-reed. The principal player—then called "chief discant-player," was the "Master of the Shawms."

The London String Quartette which played here a season or so ago, receiving much local popular favor is again touring the States with increased success.

The Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra is just now making musical history. During the present Fall and Winter it will be on tour for a period of seven or eight weeks, and it is proposed that this organization—one of America's finest symphony orchestras—will visit every city in the United States that boosts a symphony. It will be under the direction of Walter Henry Rothwell, its very able conductor, and is sponsored by W. A. Clark Jr., its founder, (1919), who not only maintains this great orchestra single-handed, but alone guarantees its deficits up to ten years since its commencement. The orchestra has the full complement of one hundred musicians, necessitating the use of a special train of eight cars for transporting purposes. This tour will prove the most extensive in mileage ever covered by any similar organization, and, its importance to music, example, and influence on music's best, combined with the spread of the musical form of its own city Southern California and practically of the whole of the Pacific Coast is colossal indeed.

The songs of Frederick Herrmann can very well be recommended to local singers. They seemingly are in much favor. His "Cradle Song," delightfully soothing, and the fanciful, "Twilight," are splendid additions to his "Longings" and "South Sea Memories."

It is noticed that the Los Angeles Oratorio Society is producing the "Messiah," within a day or two of our own local production by the First Presbyterian United Church Choir. Will Jackson Hanby consider for future presentation the beautiful and somewhat difficult, "The Dream of Gerontions." It will refreshen the splendid efforts of his staunch and faithful singing members, besides creating the additional interest of his public.

It must not be forgotten that for one hundred years between the time of Henry VII and James I Englishmen were writing music rivalling that produced in Flanders and Italy, and comparable with the great Elizabethan literature.

Charlie Chaplin Is Also Musician

Two of His Fox Trots in Production of "The Gold Rush"

Few people know that Charlie Chaplin, the greatest comedian of the silver screen, is also a musician of note, and has composed two fox trots specially for his new picture "The Gold Rush," which is the feature attraction at the Dominion Theatre again this week.

Mr. Chaplin chose Abe Lyman's Brunswick Orchestra for the recording of his hits, and in fact personally directed the orchestra. He plays a violin solo part in his "Sing a Song" selection, and the tone he brings from his violin is well worth hearing. His other selection is "With You Dear in Bombay," a simple and beautiful melody, enhanced with the usual Lyman rhythm. ***

HALLOWE'EN PRANK ENDED IN DEATH

Boys in Strathclair, Manitoba, Annoyed Harness-Maker

Strathclair, Man., Nov. 2.—Hubert Morrison, eighteen, who with a number of boy companions was taking part in Hallowe'en festivities here Saturday night, was shot and fatally injured. He died yesterday in a Shoal Lake hospital.

Joseph McCullugh, who is alleged to have fired the shot that killed the boy, was arrested.

It is said the boys had placed a ladder against the wall of McCullough's harness shop and Morrison had climbed it with the intention of placing something over the chimney. The lads at the foot of the ladder shouted to Morrison that McCullough was coming with a gun and then fled. They state they heard a shot and saw Morrison run a few steps from the foot of the ladder, then collapse and fall.

Morrison died from the efefcts of the buckshots, some of the pellets having entered his lungs. Before he died he made an affidavit charging McCullough had fired at him as he was coming down the ladder.

SHOOTING AFFRAY

Saskatoon, Nov. 2.—Edward C. C. Schindel, a Sutherland farmer, is in a hospital here suffering from two bullet wounds, one of which is serious, as the result of a shooting affray which occurred on his farm twenty miles east of Saskatoon on Sunday morning.

Charles Salisburg, a neighbor farmer, is being held by police without bail on a charge of attempted murder as a result of the shooting, which followed a heated argument over Hallowe'en pranks of children, alleged to have been played on Salisbury.

About 600 French Killed in Syria

Paris, Nov. 2.—The French losses in Syria since the beginning of the Druse tribesmen's insurrection were 585 killed or missing, and of these a little less than half were French soldiers, the Premier's office announces Saturday in refuting press statements at 6,000 had been killed.

The Government pointed out that the 6,000 represented the total killed or missing since 1920, when France took over the mandate for Syria.

Denial likewise was made of a report that Col. Gamelin had lost 3,000 men while returning to Damascus from the rebel territory.

Twin Bedouins and Hungarian Goulash, Stage New Exotic Diet

New York, Nov. 2.—Hungary and Arabia have joined the Broadway league of nations. Foreign plays are both a challenge and a consolation to dramatists of the native scene, for the best of them are better than most American plays and the poorer ones are simply poor. No place or language has a monopoly of the latter.

One of the best is Molnar's "The Glass Slipper," with which the Theatre Guild opens its season. It is a farciful and sophisticated comedy, rich in the flavor of distant Budapest, presenting one of the most variedly psychopathic groups ever assembled. The story is a light and original utilization of the Cinderella theme. A double handful of delicious and novel incidents unfold it. Yet plot and incident are trivial compared with the corking characters.

June Walker gives a memorable and near-perfect performance as the moon-struck brat of a Cinderella. Helen Westley steps out of her usual role of a vixenish duenna to become a younger woman, passionate, perplexed and exceedingly appealing. Lee Baker is most effective as the single sane and normal person in the crowd. The acting could scarcely be improved.

+ + +

Not even Elsie Ferguson can save "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter," which drags as clumsily as its title. And she is at her very best in a role that exacts the most skillful handling. If you found the story, itself, in a musical comedy, surrounded by songs and dances, you would accept it without question. But this tale of an ex-royalist of Russia and her "servant complex" is rather hard to swallow, even as satire. However—who would not sit through a draggy performance to see the fair Elsie in negligee?

+ + +

Czecho-slovakia contributes "Holka Polka," an operetta abounding in lilting music which is matched by good singing and beautiful sets. The piece has been adapted and features a home grown cast headed by Orville Harrold and his daughter, Patti. One of the songs, "Home of My Heart," should be heard far and wide before the season is over. It is a good show.

+ + +

In "Arabesque" the hero is really the spectacle arranged by Norman-Bel Geddes. It is a complicated and startling bit of virtuosity in light, color and form. As a play it is cut and sketched to the most fragile framework. The writing by Eunice Tietjens and Cloyd Head tells of a Tunisian maiden betrothed to one man and in love with another. There is exotic music and outlandish dancing, with a tedious detailing of native passions. But the reason for going to see "Arabesque" if one goes, is to see the Geddes pageantry.

+ + +

There is much talk about the over-discussed "younger generation" in Jesse Lynch Williams's play "Lovely Lady," but it remains for a world-wise woman of a former generation to do the real vamping of the drama. The "Fata Morgana" device is introduced; that is, a callow young man finds himself enamoured of an older woman, in whose presence no loose male is safe. She tries to land the youth's father, who is quite as wise as she and a literally impossible adjustment of affairs is worked out. There are many bright lines, and Bruce McRae, Elizabeth Risdon and William Hanley are excellent.

+ + +

"Weak Sisters" may be taken either as a burlesque on the sex confession story or as frankly a raw and shoddy bit. It looks more like the latter. Seven scarlet ladies constitute the bulk of the dramatic personae and utter in their various ways the meretricious language that fits the parts. It is a good subject for censorship, and may be seeking martyrdom.

+ + +

Garland Anderson, a negro elevator boy from California, wrote "Appearances." That fact should make the play worth seeing, aside from intrinsic merit. It was produced here, they say, largely through the friendly offices of Al Jolson. At any event it is a long way from being a bad play. It is somewhat loaded with opinions about race prejudices but retains one's interest and is entitled to a hearing, which it may continue to receive for a good many weeks.

Veterans Drop Close Match To Ladysmith

Score Was 2-1 in McDonald Cup Match Played Up-Island Yesterday; Teams Put up Splendid Exhibition; Ladysmith Led 2-0 at Half-time; Esquimalt Strengthen Hold on Leadership of First Division by Defeating James Island 7-2; Wests and Services Draw; Sons of England Beat Victoria United

In one of the hardest-fought matches ever played in Ladysmith the up-Island eleven defeated the Veterans 2-1 yesterday afternoon in the first round game of the McDonald Cup series. Both teams put up a splendid exhibition, keeping the large crowd on their toes the whole time.

As a result of their defeat the Vets were knocked out of the series as the cup is being played for on the knock-out system. The team returned home yesterday and claim it was only hard luck that kept them from at least securing a draw.

At half-time Ladysmith led by 2-0, although play had been even. Tuffy Davis and Rafters were responsible for the Up-Islander's counters.

In the second half the Vets had the best of the play, and at times a general scrimmage took place around the Ladysmith goal. The Up-Islanders used rough tactics in this period, which resulted in Douglas, one of their half-backs, being ordered off the field.

REDSHIRTS SCORE

"Nobbie" Clark scored the Vets' goal when he took a fast pass from Joe Clark, in the goal mouth, and beat the goalie easily. Just before the end of the match the Vets had two fine chances to even up the score, but they were missed, and the final whistle blew with the redshirts pressing on the Ladysmith goal.

League Standing

	P.	W.	L.	D.	Pct.
Esquimalt	5	5	0	0	10
Victoria Wests	5	4	1	1	7
United Services	5	4	1	1	7
Sons of England	5	2	3	0	4
Victoria United	5	1	4	0	2
James Island	5	0	5	0	0

Esquimalt strengthened their hold on first place in the First Division yesterday afternoon by scoring a 7-2 victory over James Island on their home field while the Victoria Wests and United Services, the two clubs tied for second position, fought to a 3-all draw at the Royal Athletic Park. In the other match between the Sons of England and Victoria United at Beacon Hill the former came out on the long end of a 3-2 score.

The Dockers now have a lead of three points over their nearest rivals the Wests and Services, who as a result of their drawn match, are still joint occupants of second place. The Sons of England, by virtue of their victroy over the United have secured fourth position. James Island are still in the cellar position not having won a single match out of five games.

BOTH TEAMS WEAKENED

Those fans who attended the match between the Wests and United Services saw two weakened teams in action and very ragged brand of soccer was the result. The greenshirts were without the services of Harry Copas, their star full-back; Nex, one of their mainstays on the forward line, and also Guy Waddington, their outside right. The Services were forced to play without Coulter who is out of the game through an injury received at James Island last week.

In the first half the Wests did the most of the pressing and the Services back division was kept on the qui vive for the first twenty minutes keeping their goal clear. A dispute took place as to whether the Wests had scored or not when Mulcalhy shot across the corner of the goal and hit the net. After a consultation with the two linesmen the referee decided that the ball had never entered the net but had hit the hemp back of the goal post. Mulcalhy opned the scoring for the greenshirts when he sent the ball into the net after Zanelli had fumbled a shot off Thomas toe.

SERVICES EVEN UP

The Tommies carried the play into their opponents' goal area and Smith put the teams on even terms when he placed Cozier's perfect centre into the net after Bob Whyte had failed to clear. No further scoring was done in this half.

Mulcalhy put the greenshirts in the lead a few minutes after the kick-off when he beat Zanelli after Peters, one of the Services' full-backs, miskicked and Pat went through on his own to score with a terrific drive. The Wests retained their lead until halfway through the period when Spiers drove in a shot that hit the cross-bar and bounced into the goal and out again. The Wests claimed it was no goal but Refereen Payne pointed to a centre-off.

With the score tied the teams battled tooth and nail but no score was registered until during a hot attack on the West's goal when Passmore accidentally handled the ball, the Services being awarded a penalty. Hawkes, who took the kick beat Whyte with a ground shot to the corner of the net.

Just after this Thomas, the Wests' centre-half, was ordered off the field by the referee for talking back.

With only ten men the Wests were determined to even up the score and with only five minutes to go Jimmy Sherratt sent in a pretty shot from right wing that Zanelli fumbled and Pat Mulcalhy rushed the leather into the net for his third goal and the counter which saved the Wests from defeat.

Percy Payne refereed and the teams were:

Victoria Wests—Whyte; Dunn, Sid Sherratt; Passmore, Thomas, Popham; Jimmy Sherratt, Whight, Mulcalhy, Butler and Ivings.

United Services—Zanelli; Peters, Allan; Drake, Hawkes, Bracey; Smith, Grimes, Spiers, Kennedy and Cozier.

ESQUIMALT WIN EASILY

Over at James Island Esquimalt had an easy time coming through with a victory over the Islanders. The Dockers showed their usual fine form, and although the home club put up a great battle they were no match for last year's Jackson Cup winners.

The game was marred by an unfortunate accident which took place when Mesher of Esquimalt and Chester of the Island team collided which resulted in the latter having one of his legs broken.

In the initial half Esquimalt scored two goals while they held their opponents scoreless. John Watt and Warreh were responsible for the counters. For the first twenty minutes of the game James Island put up a great exhibition but, after Esquimalt had scored their first goal they seemed to go all to pieces.

Esquimalt added five more goals to their credit in the second frame while James Island secured two. John Watt scored three goals for Esquimalt while McColl and Warren were responsible for the other two. Barry and Chettell scored for James Island.

Stokes referred and the teams were as follows:

Esquimalt—Nicol, Watt, Mesher, Hay, Hosmer, Davies, Stewart, John Watt, Tommy Watt, Warren and McColl.

James Island—Rodger, Lynch, Todd, Rivers, Robb, Dixon, Chester, Inglis, Barry, Chettell and Goldie.

Quainton's goal a few minutes before the final whistle gave the Sons of England a victory over the Victoria United at Beacon Hill. The teams were very evenly matched and the spectators were treated to a hard-fought match.

In the first half the United secured the lead when Taylor and Groves scored. The Englishmen were successful in securing a lone goal, Quainton beating Hogan with a well-placed shot from close range.

Connorton put the Sons on even terms shortly after the second half got under way when he sent in a beautiful shot from right wing that easily beat the goalie.

With the score tied the teams battled hard in an effort to break the deadlock and Quainton put the Englishmen in the lead when he placed the ball in the net from a few yards out giving the goalie no chance of blocking the pigskin.

McMillan handled the whistle and the teams lined up as follows:

Sons of England—Holman, Harwood, Armitage, Dryborough, Cull, Shanks, Connorton, Pixton, Quainton, Shanks and Thomas.

Victoria United—Hogan, White, Newlands, Dowds, Moulton, Essler, Auchiavole, Taylor, Saville, Groves and Allen.

Veterans Will Play Picked Eleven Here Thanksgiving Day

Although the city will start work to-morrow renovating the Royal Athletic Park arrangements have been made to hold it open for the representative game to be staged on Thanksgiving Day between the Veterans of the Pacific Coast League and an All-Star eleven selected from the six clubs of the First Division.

Nanaimo Plays Draw With Westminsters

Nanaimo, B.C., Nov. 2—In a Pacific Coast fixture on Saturday afternoon Nanaimo United and New Westminster played a drawn game, each team registering twice. There was no tallying in the first half, during which period the home team had the better of the play, forcing five corners, but they could not penetrate. Fourteen minutes after the restart Waits scored for Westminster. Six minutes later Stone evened for Nanaimo, and ten minutes later Cowie scored the second for Westminster. With five minutes to go, Dickinson crossed over a short one to Stone, who headed in for the final and tying score of the game.

Blackheath Beaten

Paris, Nov. 2.—The Racing Club of France defeated Blackheath 24-8 in a rugby game here Saturday.

Victoria Golf Club Has Arranged Two Main Competitions

Thanksgiving Day Mixed Foursomes Next Monday; Calcutta Matches Nov. 14

The Victoria Golf Club has arranged a Calcutta foursomes competion to be held this month. The conditions are as follows:

The competitors will be divided into two classes, A and B, according to handicap; partners will be drawn so than an "A" man will be coupled with a "B" man and the couples so drawn will then be drawn against each other to play off, match play.

Entries will close on Thursday November 12, and the first round will start on Saturday, November 14, and must be played by November 22; the second round must be played by November 29; the third round by December 6; the semi-finals by December 13, and the final round by December 22. Competitors who have failed to play their matches by these dates will be scratched.

The combined handicaps of each couple will be divided by four and the result, expressed in holes, will be the handicap allowed; in a match the lower shall be subtracted from the higher handicap. In case of a halved match it shall be played again unless the handicaps are equal, when it will be necessary to play one or more holes only.

Prizes will be awarded to the winning couple and the runners-up will also receive a prize. All matches to be eighteen holes. Entrance fee to be $1 for each person, which must be paid to the secretary before taking part in the competition.

Those wishing to play are asked to sign the list on the notice board at the clubhouse.

Capt. Merston and Harold Haynes were the winners last year, and Atwell King and A. H. Ford were the runners-up.

On Thanksgiving Day, Monday, November 9, a mixed foursome will be played at the Victoria Golf Club, consisting of eighteen holes medal play. One-half of the combined handicaps will be allowed, but no competitor will be allowed more than thirty. The handicap of a player who has a partner with a handicap of eight or less will be limited to twenty-four. The competition will be a sweepstake and the entrance fee will be $1 per couple and two prizes will be given.

Players may choose their partners and opponents and arrange their starting time and may play either in the morning or afternoon. Monthly visitors and ladies on the waiting list may enter for this competition, and their authorized handicaps will be accepted subject to the approval of the handicap committee. Post entries will be made and score cards must be obtained from the secretary and turned in to him duly signed.

REGINA PATS GOOD AT RUGBY

Regina, Nov. 2.—Regina Pats, the club that won the Canadian junior hockey last Winter, copped the Southern Saskatchewan junior rugby championship by defeating Moose Jaw here on Saturday, 7 to 0.

Harry Crane Sinks His Tee Shot and Joins Golf Circle

Harry J. Crane, of the Victoria Golf Club, is the latest member to be initiated into the mysteries of the Hole-in-one Club. He negotiated the eighth hole, 118 yards, at the seaside links yesterday in one stroke. He was playing in a foursome with Capt. Merston, A. C. Watts-Jones and Ken Raymur.

Scoring Declines In Old Country Socccer

Number of Upsets in Saturday's Games, With Downfall of Aston Villa and Newcastle United on Their Home Grounds Outstanding; Cardiff City's Victory Notable; Rangers Defeat in Scottish League Worries Supporters

London, Nov 2, (Canadian Press cable)—Saturday's league football was featured by a number of upsets, chief among which were the defeat of both Aston Villa and Newcastle United, each trimming taking place on the home ground. Scoring generally declined in comparison with the heavy counts of previous games.

In the first string, four visiting teams emerged with full points; there were three drawn games and four home teams won.

Serious injuries to players unfortunately marred several matches and in every case these occurred early in the game. The international skipper of Tottenham Hotspur, Grimsdell, broke his left ankle at Leicester and this means that he will be unable to appear for some time to come. Despite this handicap the Spurs put up a magnificent struggle.

Osborne, who was also prominent last week against Liverpool, registered three goals for Tottenham. The Londonders, however, had to accept defeat, Leicester taking the game by a two-goal margin.

CARDIFF DOES WELL

Cardiff City pulled off the most creditable performance of the day by taking the Villas into camp by a couple of counters.

Birmingham created much surprise in visiting the Tyneside and handing out a 3-1 trimming to Newcastle United.

The London district came out fairly well on the general average of games, Arsenal winning from Everton at Highbury and West Ham trouncing Manchester City at Upton Park.

Drain was the most outstanding man in the Arsenal team, scoring three of the quartette of goals.

Sunderland recorded their second draw in succession when they held Liverpool to a 2-2 count on the Mersey side.

Harper of Blackburn Rovers was another artist, getting all of his team's goals against Burnley, who dropped the game 3-1.

In the lower divisions, the Metropolitan district had reason to be self-congratulatory, for Brentford achieved a notable win over Newport while Fulham's comeback at the expense of Darlington was a feature of the day's results.

PLYMOUTH SITS PRETTY

Plymouth's position in the Southern Section of the Third Division seems unassailable, and already they are as good as promoted unless something unforeseen happens to knock them off their game. Their defeat of the Rovers at Bristol was a valuable accomplishment.

Glasgow, Nov. 2 (Canadian Press cable)—Surprises continue to feature the results in the Scottish Soccer League and Saturday's contests furnished their quota.

Rangers went down to defeat again, this time at Kirkcaldy where Raith Rovers came out with full points. Only one goal was scored in the game with Neish getting it shortly after the start.

Rangers are a tremendous disappointment this season and the Ibrox Park fans are manifestly disturbed over the collapse of their heroes.

St. Mirren defeated Heart of Midlothian cleverely at Paisley, despite the fact that one of their goals—the winning one—was scored for them by one of the Edinburgh players.

AIRDRIE CLOSE FAST

Up to half time it looked as if Partick Thistle might finish their game with Airdrieonians at the long end of the score, but in the second period Airdrie took charge of the game and Anderson shot in two while Somerville completed the count.

Dundee surprised Celtic at Celtic Park on Saturday by their speed and a goalless draw was all that Celtic could deliver to their fans.

Hibernians' victory over Falkirk at Eastern Road was a welcome one, the Irishmen taking the "Bairns" into camp 3-1.

Airdrieonians were the only team to win away from home. Three games were drawn and six went to the home teams.

Bays Start Season Again With a Loss

Champions Fall Before Oak Bay, a Similar Performance to Last Season; Oaks This Year Have Splendid Team and Will Take Some Beating; Back Division is Very Fast and Smart; Bays Are Better in Scrum

For the second year in succession the J.B.A.A., holders of the Barnard Cup for the past six years, started out the season with a defeat. On Saturday afternoon at the Canteen grounds the Bays had their noses rubbed in the turf by Oak Bay, the club which took the place of last year's Wanderers. The Bays were beaten by eight points to nil.

This is exactly what happened last year. The Bays were thrown in a mud-puddle in the opening game by the Wanderers by eight points. It came as a great shock to the rugby fans, who began to shout that at last the invincible Bays had found their match. But that defeat was the only one the champions suffered last year.

This season the Bays are off on the wrong foot again, but whether or not history will repeat itself remains to be seen. There is no question but that the Oak Bay fifteen has remarkable ability, and was full measure for their victory on Saturday. Their scrum did not function as well as the champions, and they seldom heeled out the ball. The Bays' back division failed to capitalize the advantage the scrum gave them. The Oak Bay backs were outstanding, and will prove a hard bunch to stop.

OAKS ARE FAST

While the J.B.A.A. have a seasoned team the Oaks are relying upon youth and speed for the most part. The Oaks brought Ken Adams, former rep star, back to the game as well as Taylor, who previously wore the colors of the United Services and J.B.A.A. The two Brynjolfsons and Hec Goodacre, last year with the J.B.A.A., also add strength to the Oaks, and their absence from the Bays is being felt.

The game on Saturday produced a lot of good rugby for an opening game. The forwards made long gains with their feet while the three-quarters brought off some speedy and brilliant runs. The Oaks were on the attack most of the time but the Bays rallied some powerful rushes which were only halted by stiff tackling by the Oaks' back.

The only score in the first half was registered by Harold Colpman who crashed through after Wallie Brynjolfson had handed him a nice pass. "Cotton" Brynjolfson made a fine kick to add the extra points.

THE SECOND TRY

In the second half the plunging three-quarter, John Shaw, bustled across the Bays' line for the second try. He was away out near the flag and as a result the kick for the convert failed.

Bill Ellis refereed and the teams were as follows:

J.B.A.A. — Frampton; Bendrodt, Fraser, Huxtable, Clarke; McMillan, McLean; Pendray, Smith, J. McRae, Mawhood, Miller, Peden, Buller and Diespecker.

Oak Bay Oaks—McLennan; Grubb, Adams, John Shaw, W. Brynjolfson; Goodacre, Brindley, Taylor; Watson, "Cotton" Brynjolfson, R. Wilsen, Beck, Colpman, McIntyre and McDonald.

The Intermediate League opened up as well on Saturday and three good games resulted. The scores were:

Oak Bay Wanderers 8, Normal School 4.

Cowichan 3, J.B.A.A. 0.

Brentwood 16, Victoria College 0.

Three field goals produced all the scores in the game between the Wanderers and Normal School. The students shot the ball between the uprights in the first half but the Wanderers came back with two beautiful kicks in the second half to win the game.

Cowichan crossed the Bays' line in the first half of their match for the only try of the game. Both teams fought on valiantly in an effort to gain further scores but the defences held tight.

Brentwood proved superior to Victoria College. Brentwood scored two goals in the first half and two additional tries in the second. Victoria College was unable to register.

Mickey Walker is entering the movies and thus clears the mystery of why everyone called him a Little Jack Dempsey.

De Paolo Clinched Automobile Racing Title on Saturday

Established New Record For 250 Miles by Traveling 128 Miles an Hour at Salem

Salem, N.H., Nov. 2.—Peter de Paolo clinched the 1925 automobile racing championship Saturday and established a world record for 250 miles when he won the inaugural race over that distance on the new board speedway here before 70,000 spectators.

His time was one hour 59 minutes and 25 seconds, an average of 128 miles an hour. The old mark, held by Tommy Milton, was 126.85 miles an hour.

De Paolo finished a lap ahead of Ralph Hepburn and two laps ahead of Earl Cooper.

The little Brooklyn racer drove the entire distance without a stop, taking the lead at the half-way mark and holding it to the end, except for half a lap when Earl Cooper passed him in a thrilling spurt. De Paolo regained the lead with a cool dash down from the rim of the track on the next turn. Less than 50 yards separated the racers for nearly 50 miles.

Only eight of the 16 starters finished. Tommy Milton was forced out in the first 50 miles with engine trouble, but later took Bob McDonough's car when it stopped for repairs and drove into fifth place money.

Harry Hartz finished fourth; Earl Devore, sixth; Norman Batten, seventh, and Jerry Wonderlich last.

WAY IN THE LEAD

De Paolo was virtually 1,500 points in the lead for this season's championship honors before Saturday's victory by virtue of his victories in the 500-mile Indianapolis sweepstakes and the 250-mile race at Altoona, Pa.

Leon Duray hung up a new record for 100 miles, covering that distance at an average of 129 miles an hour. A strained motor forced him from the race at the end of his 110th mile.

Queen's Are College Champions Once More

Toronto 'Varsity Clearly Outclassed in Final Intercollegiate Rugby Game in East; Presbyterians Will Now Play-off for Canadian Title; Ottawa in Good Position to Win "Big Four" Title; Argos Downed by Montreal

For the fourth consecutive season Queen's University captured the intercollegiate rugby championship on Saturday by defeating University of Toronto in the annual classic, 17 to 0. Queen's will meet the winners of the Ontario Rugby Union in the play-offs, the winners of this game meeting the inter-provincial champions in the Eastern finals.

Defeating Varsity, Queens stretched their string of consecutive victories to 24. Their touch line has yet to be crossed this season.

Toronto Argonauts were eliminated as contenders in the inter-provincial race, when Montreal A.A.A. trimmed theem in Montreal, six to three. The championship now rests between Ottawa Senators and Hamilton Tigers, who have two games to play. The first will be played in Hamilton next Saturday and the other in Ottawa November 14. If the Senators can take one game from the Tigers they will give the Federal capital a rugby championship for the first time in many years.

Balmy Beach practically cinched the O.R.F.U. title by defeating Camp Borden, 16 to 1, in an overtime game. Neither Camp Borden or Hamilton Rowing Club still have an outside chance of finishing in a tie with the paddlers for first place. These teams meet next Saturday.

QUEEN'S SUPERIOR

Toronto, Nov. 2.—Queen's outclassed Varsity Saturday on a slippery field and won by 17-0. Two fumbles back of the line presented eleven points to Queen's, who maintained their reputation of getting the loose ball. Leadley and Batstone, in the first half, performed as of old, but Snyder and Trimble apparently were not able to get started. Varsity's wing line was a disappointment after the first few minutes. While Queen's backs were able to generally run back the ball with more or less success, the Varsity halves were almost every time downed in their tracks. Even in the third quarter, when Chantler and Voss replaced Leadley and Batstone, Varsity could not realize on their opportunities. Play was in Varsity territory for fully three-quarters of the afternoon, and even Snyder was unable to get within striking distance to kick for a point with one of his mighty punts.

Montreal, Nov. 2.—A combined forty-five yard run in the last quarter started by Jeff Russell and completed by Earl Whitall, gave the local Big Four team a touchdown and a six to three victory over Argonauts, of Toronto, in a scheduled fixture here Saturday.

Argos took the lead early in the game and at the end of the third session led by 3 to 0, by way of three rouges.

Montreal came back with a fight and counted a rouge which was followed by their spectacular try.

Jeff Russell was the main cog in the local machine, his defensive play and brilliant run featuring the play.

Argos played sound rugby, but the locals were tight in the pinches, at one time holding Argos, who were in possession on the local one-yard line. Joe Breen carried the brunt of the Argos' offensive play until he was taken off in the last quarter with a badly gashed leg. Breen was given splendid support by his teammates, especially the backfield, who worked a short, snappy passing game.

Edmonton, Nov. 2.—By defeating Calgary Tigers here on Saturday, 18 to 4, the University of Alberta won their first Albert rugby championship since 1914. By virtue of their victory in Calgary the previous week the students captured the round, 37 to 15.

Varsity's triumph in the home and home series was one of the biggest surprises in the history of Alberta rugby, as the highly touted Tigers were figured to again win the title fairly easily.

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—Ottawa's rally came too late to save them from defeat yesterday and McGill triumphed in the exhibition game by 7 to 6.

The inter-collegiate team went ahead when they grabbed a touchdown on Tubman's fumble and they led at the end of the third period, 7 to 1. In the dying moments of the game Ottawa swept up the field, Miller scoring a touch on Lynch's on-side kick. Lynch failed to convert the try and McGill were winners.

Cougars On Their Way To Winnipeg For Early Workout

L. Patrick and His Champs Left Yesterday; First Practice on Wednesday

Some of Victoria's hockey champions are now rolling on their way to Winnipeg, where they will hold their first workout on Wednesday afternoon. Lester Patrick, manager; Gordon Fraser, "Happy" Holmes, Harry Meeking and Jocko Anderson left yesterday on the afternoon boat and last evening were joined in Vancouver by Jack Walker.

Frank Foyston, another member of the club, did not accompany the club. He has decided to stay in the butcher business in Seattle. Russell Oatman, another of the Cougars, was to have left with the team, but postponed his departure a couple of days owing to the death of his mother.

Harold Hart boarded the train at Moose Jaw to-morrow and Clem Loughlin and Halderson will join the club in Winnipeg.

Lester announced yesterday that he had received no further word from Frederickson, who says he wants to quit hockey and stick to business.

Ottawa Will Vote in Favor of Pittsburg; N. Y. Signs Two Hamilton Stars

Ottawa, Nov. 2—Ottawa will withdraw their vote against Pittsburg when the National Hockey League convenes for its regular annual meeting at Montreal next Saturday. The Ottawa directors, it is stated, are now convinced that Pittsburg will have a strong enough team to compete on equal terms with other clubs in the major organization and for this reason will waive all objections to its entry. This means that Pittsburg will have a unanimous vote of acceptance.

Ottawa, Nov. 2—Two more members of the former Hamilton Tigers hockey team signed up on Saturday to play for New York in the National Hockey League. Charlie Langlois and Alex. McKinnon both arrived from Sudbury Saturday and conferred with Manager Tommy Gorman, who subsequently admitted that both Langlois and McKinnon had signed contracts that were highly satisfactory to the club and to the players. It is understood that they signed up for three years, their contracts covering all exhibition and league games. Both McKinnon and Langlois have applied to President Calder for reinstatement and will report for practice to Niagara Falls on Monday.

Toronto, Nov. 2—The Toronto Hockey Club Limited issued a writ in the Supreme Court on Saturday claiming damages for breach of trust, conspiracy to keep plaintiff out of professional hockey, and asking for the return of the National Hockey League franchise acquired by Arena Gardens Limited as trustee for the plaintiff in 1918-19, and for the return of the team alleged to have been converted by the Arena Gardens to its own use and unlawfully transferred to St. Patrick's Hockey Club Syndicate, subsequently incorporated as a limited company.

The defendants mentioned in the writ are: Arena Gardens of Toronto; St. Patrick's Hockey Club Limited, Ottawa Hockey Association, Canadian Hockey Club, Inc., Montreal; Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey League, Montreal; Charles Querrie, Hubert Vearncombe and T. Gorman, Ottawa.

Burnsiders will play every Tuesday, St. John's Men's Club every Wednesday and Saanich every Friday.

Other teams from Victoria and Esquimalt are negotiating for the other three evenings.

Visitors interested in the game will be made welcome, and gentlemen desiring to join any of these clubs are invited to do so at once as the membership for any one evening is limited.

Victoria Ladies Win Grass Hockey Game

The grass hockey match on Saturday at Oak Bay between the ladies of the Victoria Grass Hockey Club and St. George's School resulted in a victory for the former by four to two. The score at half time was three to one. The Victoria goals were scored by Miss Harman, Miss Forbes, Miss Mabel Harris and Miss Jerram, while Kathleen Dunn and Ella Cook scored for St. George's.

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, Nov. 2 (By R. P. Clark & Company).—The outside demand covered a wider diversification, and some of the groups that have been recently neglected gathered momentum from this influence. In this respect oils were prominently featured, the rails were actively traded in at advancing prices, and the copper shares moved forward but encountered some profit taking. The motors received their chief impetus from the action of the Studebaker directors in increasing its common dividend, and though heavy offerings appeared to check their forward movement for a time the afternoon session witnessed sharp rallies in some groups. Activity in the high-priced industrials may have been stimulated, but the influence of the automobile issues, as extra disbursement talk was again renewed following the advance in the industrial shares that are supposed to have large surpluses on hand.

There was a firmness to money, with no apparent market influence, though general business conditions were characterized as excellent by a prominent review, and the copper metal market is showing indications of price hardening.

The appearance of the October sales for the mail order houses stimulated a renewed buying power in the shares representing these concerns, the figures being very favorably interpreted.

Arrival of the Italian mission is again focussing attention to the foreign political situation, though in the present markets extra distribution forecasts and earnings figures seem to be the outstanding influences.

The averages in the industrial section again entered new high territory during which distribution seemed very heavy. On the other hand, the outside buying interest is shifting to the oil, copper and rails shares, and it appears to be still powerful enough to propel the issues in an upward direction.

New York, Nov. 2 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct Wall Street wire)—The evening stock market edition of The Wall Street Journal says:

Nothing in Wall Street's recollection has ever surpassed the vigor of the buying power displayed during the day and prices swept ahead with an aggressiveness which threw the bear interests into disorganized retreat.

Perhaps the most impressive feature of the session's developments was the character of the stocks which furnished leadership. U.S. Steel, American Can, Mack Truck, General Electric, U.S. Rubber and other issues of similar standing headed the forward movement among the industrials, while rails were stimulated by extraordinary demonstrations of strength in the Atlantic Coast Line and L. and N.

News of the increase in the Studebaker reg. div. to a $5 basis against $4, and the declaration of a $1 extra payment, had time to spread the country over, and buying of motors was reflected in Studebaker's progressiveness.

Bangor and Aroostook was another strong spot in the carriers, advancing 1½ to 54½. Earnings this year will run between $6 and $7 a share. Hudson Motors sensational performance overshadowed other departments. After another spectacular uprush which carried the stock to 139½, up 22½ points from the previous close, the stock sold off sharply, receding about 10 points from its high. Marland Oil led a late demonstration among the oils moving into new high ground for the year at 56¾, up 2⅜. Time money market dull. Stock exchange houses are not asking for much. Three to 6 months is 4¾ per cent and 5 per cent. Shorter dates are nominally quoted. Commercial paper market quiet. Limited offerings are readily taken, especially by out-of-town banks. Prime names 4¼ per cent, other good names 4½ per cent, a fraction less than that of Saturday, bulk of business moving at 4½.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Nov. 2 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat—Pressure was absent during the greater part of the session and prices advanced briskly as a result of firmness in Liverpool, frost reports from the Argentine and marked stability in the November delivery at Winnipeg. An excellent class of buying prevailed, with the December showing relative strength and going to a premium at one time of 4⅞ cents over the May. Some of the absorption was attributed to the East.

The Canadian trade was aroused by the forecast of a return to unfavorable weather conditions, which would serve to delay threshing again as well as retard the movement of grain from the interior. The decrease of 2,114,000 bushels in the domestic visible now being less than one-half the amount of last year. While no damage was confirmed in the southern hemisphere from the cold weather, the news was sufficient to place shorts on the defensive.

Local experts in their monthly reports indicated that seeding of Winter wheat has been considerably delayed as a result of wintery weather the last few weeks. December wheat is reflecting a tight supply run here and on recessions regard the buying side with favor.

Corn—Corn scored fair gains after registering lower levels early. Private crop reports were not as bearish as expected and indications that husking of corn is behind schedule attracted improved commission house buying. On the advance profit-taking came out. The demand for cash corn was fair with the basis about steady. Some reports had farmers selling a little more freely but receipts do not pick up much. Visible supply decreased 531,000 bushels. Corn is cheap compared with this time last year and on weak spots advise the buying side.

Oats—Oats averaged higher in a light trade. Commission house buying was better and pressure light. Commercial demand for oats has been steady and had led to fair inroads into visible supplies the last month. Movement from the country is moderating.

Rye—Rye moved forward with wheat but did not reflect the buoyancy of the latter. Export demand fails to show any enlargement and this is delaying speculative enthusiasm despite sharp discount of rye under wheat.

Chicago, Nov. 2 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's Direct Pit Wire)—Wheat—Active and higher. Short covering appeared early due to the strong cables from Liverpool and when Winnipeg developed independent strength, houses with Eastern connections became the best buyers, putting December to around 3c above Saturday's finish.

Reports of frost in the Argentine and private crop reports indicating delay in Winter wheat seeding were contributing factors.

Visible shows a decrease of 2,114,000 bushels. Believe sales of May, if made on the sharp upturns, will show a profit.

Corn averaged higher with wheat. Shorts were the best buyers.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, Nov. 2.—Higher cables, predictions of unfavorable weather in the Western provinces and reports of frost damage to Argentine crops, were all factors in a rapid advance on the local wheat market to-day. After gaining 2¾ to 4⅝ the market closed 3½ higher in November at 133⅞; 2⅝ up in December at 127⅞ and 2½ higher in May at 130⅞. November was the active feature of the day and recorded the top gain of 4⅝. Offerings were light, and with buying difficult, prices mounted rapidly from Saturday's close.

Snow and unsettled weather was predicted for the prairie provinces. Trading in coarse grains was light, but prices reached higher levels in sympathy with wheat. November flax was a feature closing at an advance of 4¼ at 235 a bushel. Cash wheat was active and the premiums narrowed to-day. Number 1 Northern traded at 1¾ over November and No. 2 at 1¼ to 2¼ under.

Winnipeg, Nov. 2 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat—Everything in the market to-day was of a bullish character. Stronger cables than expected, strength in American markets, another break in the Canadian weather forecast combined with an extremely light cash situation together with light offerings in both cash and futures were from 3½ cents to 2½ cents above the close on Saturday. There was also a big break in lake freight rates which made shippers keen to secure supplies, resulting in an improvement in spreads. Canadian and American millers together with shippers and exporters were all anxious to secure all available car lots and round lots of top grades. The stronger cables caused last week's short sellers to cover up at the opening but there was a good class of buying going on all day and the market gained strength as the session progressed.

Buying was difficult and prices were easily forced upward. The November position appears to be just as tight as the October was. There was good buying of May, which looked like investment business. Exporters were not active and seaboard advices stated that export sales of Manitobas were about 250,000 bushels, with some durums. There was nothing bullish about the overseas news.

Argentine weather has continued fine and favorable although there were reports of frost damage which London later denied. Conditions in Australia and India are favorable, with further rains received. The farmers in the West delivered 2,843,297 bushels of wheat on Saturday and threshing is proceeding rapidly, but if further rains and snows are received as forecasted for Tuesday threshing and receipts will receive another shock.

The Canadian visible increased 2,217,000 bushels, the figures now being 39,574,000 bushels.

Coarse Grains—These markets were dull to-day with light trade in evidence. Prices were all higher and were following the trend of wheat.

Flax—Trade light but undertone strong and prices closed from 3¾ cents to 2 cents higher with November leading.

Winnipeg, Nov. 2 (By B. C. Bond Corporation's Direct Pit Wire)—Wheat was stronger throughout the session with bulk of the trade bullish. Argentine reported frost over a large territory and Broomhall advises that recent rains in Australia had been of little benefit.

The forecast for Canadian West is again bad with snow and colder weather predicted. All this together with limited export buying caused sharp advance in prices with bulk of buying in way of short covering.

Cash market was firm with premiums higher and offerings light. Fort William stocks showed slight decrease for the week.

Trading position seems advisable, but conditions would appear to warrant purchases on any declines.

Too Much Business, N.Y. Exchange is Forced to Close

New York, Nov. 2.—So great has been the rush of business that it has swamped the facilities of the New York Stock Exchange and its broker members, with the result that it has been decided to close the stock exchange all day to-morrow, Tuesday, so as to give the brokers a chance to catch up with their orders.

The stock boom has broken all records and business has developed to a peak that was never contemplated when the present facilities for operation were installed.

The sensational stock boom, brokers explained, is the forerunner of a great business boom over the North American continent during the coming Winter and Spring.

This is the first time in history that the exchange has been forced to close because of too much business.

THE CAT IN THE BAG

But as the day of the adjourned inquest drew near, Brent became aware that there were rumors in the air—rumors of some sensational development, the particulars of which were either non-obtainable or utterly vague. He heard of them from Peppermore, whose journalistic itching for news had so far gone unrelieved; Peppermore himself knew no more than that rumor was busy, and secret.

"Can't make out, for the life of me, what it is, Mr. Brent!" said Peppermore, calling upon Brent at the Chancellor on the eve of the inquiry. "But there's something, sir, something! You know that boy of mine—young Pryder?"

"Smart youth!" replied Brent.

"As they make 'em, sir," agreed Peppermore. "That boy, Mr. Brent, will go far in the profession of which you're a shining and I'm a dim light! He's got what the French, I believe, sir, call a flair for news. Took to our line like a duck to water, Mr. Brent! Well, now, young Pryder's father is a policeman (sergeant in the Borough Constabulary), and naturally, he's opportunities of knowing. And when he knows, he talks—in the home circle, Mr. Brent."

"Been talking?" asked Brent.

"Guardedly, sir, guardedly!" replied Peppermore. "Young Pryder, he told me this afternoon that his father, when he came home to dinner to-day, said to him and his mother that when the inquest's re-opened to-morrow there'd be something to talk about. Somebody, said Sergeant Pryder, would have something to talk of before the day was over. So—there you are!"

"I suppose old Pryder didn't tell young Pryder any more than that?" suggested Brent.

"He did not, sir," said Peppermore. "Had he done so, Jimmy Pryder would have made half a column, big type, leaded, out of it. No, nothing more. There are men in this world, Mr. Brent, as you have doubtless observed, who are given to throwing out mere hints—sort of men who always look at you as much as to say 'Ah, I could tell a lot if I would!' I guess Sergeant Pryder's one of 'em."

"Whatever Sergeant knows he's got from Hawthwaite, of course," remarked Brent.

"To be sure, sir!" agreed Peppermore. "Hawthwaite's been up to something; I've felt that for some days. I imagine there'll be new witnesses to-morrow, but who they'll be I can't think."

Brent could not think, either, nor did he understand Hawthwaite's reserve. But he wasted no time in speculation. He had already made up his mind that unless something definite arose at the resumed enquiry he would employ professional detective assistance and get to work on lines of his own. He had already seen enough of Hathelsborough ways and Hathelsborough folk to feel convinced that if this affair of his cousin's murder could be hushed up, it would be hushed. The Simon Crood gang, he was persuaded, would move heaven and earth to smooth things over and consign the entire episode to oblivion; against that process he meant to labor. In his opinion the stirring up of strong public interest was the line to take, and he was fully determined that if the Coroner and his twelve good men and true could not sift the problem of this enquiry to the bottom, he would.

That public feeling and curiosity—mainly curiosity—was still strong enough and was lasting well over the proverbial nine days, Brent saw as soon as he quitted the hall door of the Chancellor next morning. The open space between High Cross and the Moot Hall was packed with people eager to enter the big court room as soon as the doors were thrown open. Conscious that he himself would get a seat whoever else did not, Brent remained standing on the steps of the hotel, lazily watching the gossiping crowd. And suddenly Mrs. Saumarez, once more attired in the semi-mourning which she had effected at the earlier proceedings, and attended by the same companion came along the Market-Place in his direction. Brent went down and joined her.

"Pretty stiff crowd!" he remarked laconically. "I'm afraid you'll find it a bit of a crush this time. I suppose you'll not let that stop you, though?"

He noticed, then, Mrs. Saumarez was looking anxious, perhaps a little distressed, and certainly not too well pleased. She gave him a glance which began at himself and ended at a folded paper which she carried in her well-gloved hand.

"I've got to go!" she murmured. "Got to, whether I like it or not. They've served me with a summons—as a witness. Ridiculous! What do I know about it? All that I do know is—private."

Brent stared at the piece of paper. He, too, was wondering what the Coroner wanted with Mrs. Saumarez.

"I'm afraid they haven't much respect for privacy in these affairs," he remarked. "Odd, though, that if they want you now, they didn't want you at the first sitting!"

"Do you think they'll ask questions that are—private?" she suggested, half-timidly.

"Can't say," replied Brent. "You'd better be prepared for anything. You know best, after all, what they can ask you. I reckon the best thing, in these affairs, is just to answer plainly, and be done with it."

"There are certain things one doesn't want raked up," she murmured; "for instance, do you think you'll have to give evidence again?"

"Maybe," said Brent.

She gave him a meaning look, and lowered her voice.

"Well," she whispered, "if you have to, don't let anything come out about—about those letters (you know what I mean?), the letters you got for me from his rooms. I—I don't want it to be known—in the town—that he and I corresponded as much as all that. After all, there are some things——"

Just then, and while Brent was beginning to speculate on this suddenly-revealed desire for secrecy, a movement in the crowd ahead of them showed that the doors of the Moot Hall had been thrown open; he, too, moved forward, drawing his companion with him.

"You'll not forget that?" said Mrs. Saumarez, insistently. "It's—those letters, I mean—they're nothing to do with this, of course—nothing! Don't let it out that——"

"I shan't volunteer any evidence of any sort," responded Brent. "If I'm confronted with a direct question which necessitates a direct answer, that's another matter. But I don't think you've anything to worry about. I should say that what they want you for is to ask a question or two as to my cousin's movements that night. Didn't he call at your house on his way to the Mayor's Parlor?—Yes, why that'll be about it!"

"I hope so!" said Mrs. Saumarez, with a sigh of relief. "But—that witness-box, and before all these people—I don't like it."

"Got to be done," observed Brent. "Soon over, though. Now let's get in."

He piloted Mrs. Saumarez and her companion into the borough court (handed over to the Coroner for the special purposes of his inquest), found them seats in a reserved part, and leaving them, went over to the Solicitor's table, where he took a place by the side of Tansley, already settled there with his notes and papers. Tansley gave him a significant glace, nodding his head sideways at other men near them.

"Going to be a more serious affair, this, than the first was, Brent," he whispered. "These police chaps have either got something up their sleeves or Hawthwaite's got some bee in his bonnet! Anyway, there's a barrister in the case on their behalf—that little, keen-eyed chap at the far end of the table on your left, that's Meeking, one of the sharpest criminal barristers going—and I hear they're meaning to call a lot of new witnesses. But what it's all about, I don't know."

Brent looked up and down the table at which they were sitting. There were men there, legal-looking men, whom he had not seen at the opening day's proceedings.

"Who are these other fellows?" he asked.

WORLD COURT MOVE IN UNITED STATES

Washington, Nov. 2 (Canadian Press)—Friends of the World Court in this country are making much of the signing of the Locarno pact and related agreements. They believe the fact Western Europe has made what appears to be a strong movement for peace will greatly strengthen the cause of the World Court when it comes before the Senate December 17.

Supporters of the World Court say there is no longer any question that the United States will decide the coming Winter to join this tribunal. Moreover, they expect to be able to fight off all proposals for amendments and think the resolution will go through with what are known as the Harding-Hughes-Coolidge reservations. These are intended chiefly to make it clear that in joining the World Court the United States is not entering the League of Nations.

Senator Borah, backed by a strong group of senators, will make a fight to prevent entrance of the United States into the court, unless it is so changed as to separate it from the League of Nations. This fight apparently will fail, although there can be no doubt that a number of the Republican leaders have little enthusiasm for the World Court and will vote for it under protest and because the President has committed himself to it.

Once this country joins the World Court a new movement will be engineered to get the United States into the League of Nations. This purpose is not concealed by some of the ardent advocates of the League of Nations. A number of the Democratic leaders who were pro-Wilson chiefs in the days of Woodrow Wilson will take a prominent part in this movement. They see in the European pact something which will strengthen the League and give it added support in the United States.

Chestnut Faces Extinction as Delicacy in United States

Ithaca, N.Y., Nov. 2—The chestnut as an American delicacy is facing extinction. Plant pathologists and foresters at Cornell University say the reason is a serious blight communicated from tree to tree by the wind, a contamination which has been unhampered during the last twenty years.

The disease, which these pathologists describe as incurable, makes the situation more serious. The blight was first discovered in a Brooklyn park in 1904, but it was not until two years ago that it was discovered in other parts of the United States.

BOARD OF TRADE TO GIVE BANQUET

Esquimalt Body Will Entertain Guests on Wednesday Evening

The annual banquet of the Esquimalt Board of Trade will be held on Wednesday evening at the Sailors' Club when the industrial future of the Island, and the opportunities opening up in Victoria's environs, will be discussed. The Esquimalt Board of Trade believes that from this banquet will be forthcoming expressions of confidence as to the future progress of the locality and Vancouver Island generally.

Delegates from the Victoria City Council and from the Victoria Chamber of Commerce are expected to attend, in response to invitations from F. Cooke, president of the Esquimalt Board. The Reeves from neighboring municipalities and the heads of various industrial concerns will also be present.

Arrangements for the banquet and musical programme are in the hands of an entertainment committee under the chairmanship of G. Hutchinson.

BIRKENHEAD CANCELS SPEECH IN DUBLIN

But Story of Plot by Faction to Kill Him is Not Given Credence

London, Nov. 2 (Canadian Press Cable)—The story of an alleged plot to attack Lord Birkenhead, Secretary for India, sent to The London Morning Post by its Dublin correspondent, is generally discredited.

Birkenhead, however, possibly cancelled his arrangement to speak at the opening of the Historical Society in Trinity College, Dublin, on Wednesday on the general grounds of caution following representations to him by "high powers" that such an attack might be made.

The story of a plot is scouted in official quarters in Dublin.

PRISON WARDEN SAYS MAJORITY OF MEN DO NOT NEED A LOCK

Canon City, Colo., Nov. 2.—Thomas J. Tynan, who has just completed his sixteenth year as warden of the Colorado state penitentiary, has reached the conclusion that sixty per cent. of the inmates of penal institutions do not need to be locked up.

"Get them out in the open," he explains. "Make them build roads, dig in the dirt, farm. Prison conditions aren't normal—and sixty per cent. of the prisoners are."

Here are some of the activities of this warden, whose methods have been adopted by many of the largest prisons in the United States:

Adoption of the group honor system that enabled him to build 4,000 miles of roads through Colorado by means of convict labor. At these camps the men are put entirely on their honor; no armed guards are permitted. Only two civilian overseers are present.

Use of motion picture machines as a recreational and educational feature inside the prison.

The Wasserman blood test, and systematized treatment for venereal diseases.

300 AT SCHOOL

Encouragement of correspondence school courses for prisoners. This, together with his graded school system, has resulted in a daily school attendance of 300.

Tynan came to the institution without previous experience in prison work. He had been a salesman and a newspaperman.

Because of Colorado's climatic situation, its penal institutions draw a large percentage of tubercular inmates. Tynan has had but one man die of that disease within the walls, while hundreds of "cures" have been effected. Tynan himself came to Colorado in the late 90s for his health.

Tynan says the average prisoner increases in weight from thirty to fifty pounds during his sentence. The warden attributes this to wholesome food, regular hours and plenty of fresh air.

PRISONER ARCHITECT

An example of the product of his educational system is seen in a modern administration building at the prison. This was designed by a youth who entered the prison as an illiterate boy of fourteen to serve a life term for murder. In prison he trained himself as an architect, designed the building and was paroled. To-day he is a resident of Denver, drawing a salary of $400 monthly as an architect with a large firm. He is married and has several children.

From observation and personal contact with 2,000 prisoners Tynan draws these conclusions:

That murderers often "beat back" the best.

That forgers are the worst and most repeated offenders.

That judges are too lenient in sentencing narcotic drug addicts. "A sentence of less than two years is useless," he says, "for it takes that long to get the man completely off the stuff."

That the pardon power wielded by state executives is a menace to the honor system. "There should be no pardons, only paroles," he contends.

INDIANS LONG HAD EVOLUTION THEORY

Denver, Col., Nov. 2.—The research of Dr. Jean Allard Jeancon, curator of archaeology for the Colorado Museum, has disclosed that the North American Indians devised a theory of evolution which antedated that of Charles Darwin by some 3,900 years.

Written on rocks in symbolic language, which archaeologists have found in ruins, the Indian's legend of the creation and evolution of man was that he was born of Mother Earth in her innermost recesses and after four stages of development found his way to the surface, where he attained physical perfection.

In the lowest form, in the caves of the earth, the legend depicted man as having neither eyes nor a nose and, strongly resembling Darwin's protoplasmic man, having dangling tentacles which afterwards evolved into arms and legs. Lacking ordinary means of communication, the creature used telepathy.

Later stages of evolution came when the two hero gods answered the prayers of this lowest form of man and gave him a grain of corn to plant. The grain grew through the ceiling of the cave, pushed through three higher caves and reached the earth's surface. As the Indian followed the stalk of corn, he acquired speech, sight and smell and gained the knowledge of good and evil.

In one of the caves a long tail became part of the man's body. He lost it when he attained the surface. The myth of the tail is interesting as the Indians knew nothing of the monkey family.

Annual Potato Show To be Held at Royal City This Month

Entries for the fourth annual potato show to be held in New Westminster, commencing November 25, will close on November 18. The affair will take place in the Sixth Street Armories at the Royal City.

Previous shows were held in Victoria, Grand Forks and Vancouver. The object is to give encouragement for the planting of good seed by individuals and organizations to bring about a series of educational meetings under the auspices of the B.C. Seed Potato Growers' Association, and the display of bulbs and seeds for the forthcoming season's planting.

While the potato classes are competitive and educational in value, the fine commercial displays of seeds are of themselves a tribute to the fine climate of the Coast district.

A new potato, developed from the popular Gold Coin will be shown by P. Fremlin of Duncan who has called it the "Cowichan Leader." The variety has been tested as a cooker by E. R. Bewell, the district agriculturist, who has found it of good quality.
